IKE'S H-ARMS $1.5 BILLION

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower sent Congress today an emergency request for $1,455,747,000 for hydrogen bombers, missiles, space programs, and missile-firing atomic submarines.

Well over one-fourth of the total requested was earmarked for purchase of 39 B-52 H-bombers and jet tankers to build a new heavy bombing wing for the Strategic Air Command.

Eisenhower's plan would push defence appropriations and spending over the $40-billion mark for the year starting July 1.

New Civilian Space Agency Planned by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to create a new civilian space-exploration program.

His request was in a special message to Congress.

One aim of the defence-reorganization plan, Eisenhower said, is to strengthen authority of the defence secretary in military strategy matters.

Eisenhower told Congress the new space agency would absorb the national advisory committee for aeronautics and would be responsible "for an imaginative and well-conceived program."

NEW SPUTNIK FIRING SOON?

LONDON (UP)—British rocket experts said today Russia is nearly ready with its new space project—probably a huge dog-carrying satellite, intended to return safely to earth with its living and instrument cargo.

Members of the British interplanetary society, through various sources, have heard that Soviet rocket scientists have been travelling from their usual research posts, presumably to the rocket ranges near Stalingrad.

PEACETIME RECORD

5,400 Welcome RCN Ships Back From Cruise

A peacetime record crowd estimated officially at 5,400 crowded into HMC Dockyard this morning to welcome home five ships of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron after an 11-week cruise in the Far East.

It was the biggest "welcome home" here since HMCS Sioux returned from her first tour of duty with UN forces in Korean waters.

The ships passed Duntze head at 10 a.m. By 9:30 a.m., cars were bumper to bumper from Admirals Road to the main gate at dockyard.

Members of the Corps of Commissioners marshalled the cars into all available parking space in the Dockyard area, and Jetty "A" largest in the yard, was crammed with welcomees as the ships drew alongside after steaming 18,500 miles on the training cruise.

Units of the squadron taking part in the cruise were: HMCS Ships Crescent, Cayuga, Skeena, Fraser and Margaree. The latter three are of the newest anti-submarine escort type, and all are classed as destroyer escorts.

Capt. M. G. Stirling, commanding officer of Crescent and senior officer of the squadron, reported that 76 per cent of the time away from home port was spent at sea.

During the cruise, the squadron worked in company with USN units in convoy and anti-submarine and anti-aircraft exercises.

The union asked that preliminary negotiations open April 10.

Canadian Vice-President, L. C. Malone of Winnipeg, chairman of the union's negotiating committee, said here he could not estimate the dollar value of the union's demands.

Columbia-Fraser Water Diversion Hit by Governor

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—A Canadian proposal to divert waters of the upper Columbia River watershed into the Fraser River "would be a death blow to the salmon runs of the Puget Sound region," Governor Rosellini of Washington State said today.

The governor said he hoped that a program could be worked out with Canadian authorities which would solve the fish problem and protect the upstream potential for hydroelectric production at dams on the lower Columbia in Washington.

Jobless, Farm Bill Top Cabinet Items for PM; Argue to Head CCF?

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker starts this week charting the course for his Canadian adventure in development, his vision of which enraptured the country's voters in landslide proportions.

The 62-year-old Progressive Conservative chieftain was to arrive tonight by air from his home city of Prince Albert, Sask., where he voted in Monday's general election. His party won 209 of the Commons' 265 seats in the greatest mandate ever given a Canadian prime minister.

Liberals elected 48, and CCF eight.

The Conservative cabinet, all of its members personally re-elected, is to meet Thursday after returning from home constituencies.

Mr. Diefenbaker said today agricultural support prices will be considered at the cabinet session.

He made the announcement during a flight from Prince Albert, Sask., to see his 85-year-old mother at Saskatoon.

Unemployment, the prime minister said, "is necessarily No. 1 among the problems in which action can be taken before the meeting of parliament."

This weekend the prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker plan to fly to Bermuda for a week's holiday.

Much interest—as evidenced by Monday's record of more than 7,000,000 voters—will be focussed on the first session of the 24th Parliament.

LAUGHING JAG MAY HIT AFTER BLAST AT RIPPLE

The entire north end of Vancouver Island may be on a "laughing jag" Saturday morning.

It all depends on the direction of the wind.

A qualified observer of the Ripple Rock explosion told The Times that one sideeffect would be the creation of a massive release of nitrous oxide—popularly known as laughing gas.

"If the wind is from the south, the gas will clear away out to sea, and to the largely uninhabited areas of the north."

"But if it's blowing down from the north towards Campbell River, Ha! Or should I say, Ha-ha?"

ON DISARMAMENT

Dag Favors Secret Talks

LONDON (UP)—UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld told the West and Soviet Russia bluntly today that secret negotiations through diplomatic channels are their only hope of breaking the present disarmament deadlock.

He did so in an address to members of both Houses of the British parliament under the auspices of the British group of the inter-parliamentary union.

Hammarskjöld has been spending four days here at the invitation of the British government. He has had two formal meetings—including one lasting nearly two hours this morning—with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd on means of breaking the East-West deadlock on disarmament and a summit meeting.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he could have been mistaken in the way he handled U.S. counter-propaganda on Russia's announced suspension of nuclear tests.

Eisenhower told his press conference, in fact, that he and his aides may not have been exploiting the full possibilities of the United States in the field of psychological warfare.

He said he should have announced that the U.S. had considered and rejected U.S. nuclear test bans.

His comments followed State Secretary Dulles' acknowledgment Tuesday that the Russians had scored a propaganda victory with Monday's announcement of a lone wolf test suspension.

Eisenhower termed the Soviet move a gimmick not to be taken seriously.

WINDS gusting up to 70 miles an hour toppled poles and snapped wires laden with snow.

The Nova Scotia south shore between Halifax and Yarmouth was hardest hit. Nearly 80,000 persons in the area were cut off by communication failures.

The town of Bridgewater, 65 miles southwest of Halifax, was isolated when telephone and telegraph lines went down.

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain arrived off Halifax as the storm struck. The skipper of the 25,000-ton ship elected to wait outside the harbor for the gale to subside.

Defeated Socred MPs Set Policy Meeting

WINNIPEG (CP)—Social Credit leader Solon Low said here today the first step in reorganizing the party's forces will take place next Tuesday in Ottawa.

"All our former MPs will be in the capital then and a decision will be made regarding a national council meeting which we hope will be held shortly."

"I'm just picking up the pieces to rebuild the house after the hurricane has blown," said Mr. Low in an interview. He and 18 other Social Credit MPs lost their seats in Monday's general federal election. This left the party without a representative in the House of Commons.

Meanwhile in Winnipeg Trade Minister Gordon Churchill said the effect on Canadian trade of a United States law banning export of strategic goods to Communist countries probably will be discussed.

Mr. Churchill said last week the government would make a thorough investigation into the situation after it was reported that Canadian automobile manufacturers with parent companies in the United States cannot export cars to Communist China because of U.S. restrictions.

Some Reductions Applicable Here

B.C. Telephone Company this morning applied in Ottawa for an increase on rates charged for monthly telephone bills and long-distance calls.

The tariff increases would yield about $6,460,000 additional revenue a year—about 15 per cent—but many subscribers in Greater Victoria will obtain net reductions in their bills if the application is approved.

The application was submitted to the Board of Transport Commissioners. Hearings will be held in Vancouver. Affected groups have 30 days to make representations to the board.

month to residential phone bills here and between 15 cents and $2.50 for business phones, depending on type of service.

However, much of the Victoria exchange area will escape the impact of the increases and in some cases phone bills may be reduced up to $1.50 a month, Eric Mallett, Vancouver Island commercial manager for the company, said.

Abolition of Mileage Charge Asked

Along with the increase request, the company is asking for a change in the basis of computing charges to an "irregular" pattern so that it could equate rates within a growing area.

At present, there is a mileage charge added to all phone bills in the Victoria exchange for connections beyond a two-mile radius of the telephone building at Johnson and Blanshard.

If that mileage charge is eliminated it seems that all of Oak Bay, Esquimalt, and some of the Saanich subscribers will benefit," he said.

"It all depends on how far they are from the telephone building. For instance, the maximum reductions will be about $1.50 a month on the total bill of an individual connection in the Beach Drive area near the Victoria Golf Club or Esquimalt Bridge area in Craig-mait."

However, all phones within the two-mile radius of the telephone building—on which the mileage charge does not apply now—will feel the full effect of the proposed increases if they are approved.

All of Vancouver Island will escape the impact of the average 10.1 per cent increase requested for long distance tolls.

Along with that increase, the company seeks permission to chop one-third off a surcharge on all island-mainland calls because of the submarine cable service.

Last Increase Granted in 1953

The surcharge would drop from 30 to 20 cents on a three-minute day station-to-station call. The reduction will about equal the general long distance toll increase.

The company, in its application, said that since it last obtained a rate increase in 1953 operating costs have "registered a substantial increase in each succeeding year."

Despite economics effected through introduction of new and improved procedure and equipment, the accumulated effect of rising costs caused earnings in 1957 to fall below the amount required to provide an adequate return on invested capital, the company claimed.

"Estimates for the year 1958 show that net income will be substantially below the amount required to provide for dividends on the then outstanding preference, preferred and ordinary shares."

The company application noted that it will undertake a $50,000,000 expansion program this year and possibly just as large a one next year.

Reaction here was resigned. Most civic and community leaders said that the increase was part of a general rise in prices during the past few years.

ERROR FOUND

Liberal Labor MP Re-Elected

FORT FRANCES (CP)—William M. Benidickson was re-elected Liberal-Labor member of parliament for the northwestern Ontario riding of Kenora-Rainy River today after it was discovered his Progressive Conservative opponent had been mistakenly credited with 40 extra votes.

Conservative candidate John A. Robertson said a recount will be requested.

Returning officer W. J. Gray said today he had credited Mr. Robertson with the 40 extra votes on the basis of a telephone call from one of the outlying polling areas. When the written report was received from the polling station the mistake was discovered.

Mr. Gray said the correct figures now show Mr. Benidickson with 11,564 votes and Mr. Robertson with 11,508. Andre Wellsby, CCF candidate who conceded early in the race, had 3,477 votes.

Three of the riding's 220 polls were still to be reported. But the 44 eligible voters in them could not erase Mr. Benidickson's 56-vote lead.

However, Mr. Gray said there are still an estimated 200 overseas military votes to be considered in the final tabulation. These are to be announced April 5.

(From Times News Services)

LONDON—Queen Elizabeth Tuesday night drank a 40th birthday toast to the Royal Air Force at Fighter Command headquarters in suburban Stanmore.

She was attending the RAF anniversary dinner with the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and other members of the royal family.

The Queen said the RAF had "blazed the air trails across the Atlantic, through Africa and Asia to Singapore and beyond — the nucleus of that vast network of air highways that are now traversed daily by the airways of the world."

The Battle of Britain in 1940 — the RAF's "weeks of courage which have become an epic" — had taken its place with Trafalgar and Waterloo among the decisive battles of history.

LONDON — British philosopher Bertrand Russell, leader of a campaign against nuclear weapons, today ended a verbal duel with John Foster Dulles and Nikita Khrushchev by calling them "rival fanatics."

He was writing in the left-wing weekly review New Statesman which in recent months has published wordy letters from the philosopher, the U.S. secretary of state and the Russian leader.

LOS ANGELES — Actors Robert Mitchum, John Carroll and the father of singer Sammy Davis Jr. today were among defence witnesses subpoenaed for the trial of ex-mobster Mickey Cohen on charges of hitting a waiter.

Trial of the rotund little ex-mobster on charges of battery and disturbing the peace in a Sunset-strip altercation last Jan. 29 opened in municipal court. Cohen denied the charge. He was wearing dark glasses to hide a black eye when he appeared in court.

NEW YORK — A teen-aged British heiress and her shipping clerk sweetheart were married Tuesday for the second time in two months. They explained that they just wanted to be sure everything is legal.

The first wedding of Dominic Elwes, son of a British portrait painter, and the former Tessa Kennedy, was performed Jan. 27 in Havana by a Cuban notary public, they said.

Elwes told reporters the ceremony had been in Spanish and they "couldn't understand a word of it."

NEW YORK — W. C. Handy was buried today to the muted strains of a trumpet and the ringing through Harlem of his "St. Louis Blues." He was eulogized as an "understudy to Gabriel."

Three thousand persons crowded into the Abyssinian Baptist Church for the funeral of the "Father of the Blues." A crowd estimated by police at almost 20,000 shivered outside the church on a raw, grey day.

Troops, Police Guard Visiting Khrushchev

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP)—A triumphantly smiling Nikita Khrushchev arrived today in Budapest and pledged that Russia's ties with Hungary "can never be destroyed."

It was Khrushchev's first appearance abroad since he took over the Soviet premiership. It also was the international diplomatic debut of his new first deputy, Frol Kozlov, traveling with him.

Thousands of troops and police formed a security cordon on the ground as Khrushchev left the plane first, smiling and waving jauntily to the cheering Communists who greeted him from behind a three-deep barrier of militia guards.

"The West has tried in vain to disturb peaceful relations between Hungary and the Soviet Union," Khrushchev told the crowd.

"However, the close ties between our two countries can never be destroyed. We do not have to fear the enemy if we continue our unity."

Then they drove off to Central Budapest, 10 miles away. Police closed the road for 20 minutes after the motorcade swept away from the airport. Police and troops stood at intervals of 20 yards along the highway and all crossroads were blocked off with other guards.

At the airport, Hungarian Communist leader Janos Kadar responded to Khrushchev's short speech.

"Hungary will never forget that Soviet troops liberated our country," Kadar said.

Britain's Dollar Reserves Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's gold and dollar reserves rose by $231,000,000 during March and stood at $2,770,000,000 at the end of the month, the treasury announced today.

Last month's increase, which compared with an increase of $135,800,000 in February, makes the sixth consecutive month in which there has been a good gain.

The reserves — barometer of Britain's financial health — now stand at their highest since November, 1951, when they totalled $2,925,000,000.

Pearson Under Fire By Hearst Tabloid

NEW YORK (BUP) — The New York Daily Mirror made a bitter editorial attack today on Canada's defeated candidate for prime minister, Lester B. Pearson.

The Hearst tabloid demanded that the Senate Internal Security Committee at last release the full text of its investigation of the suicide last year in Egypt of Canadian minister Herbert Norman "who had been accused of unwarranted relations with Communists."

The Mirror added "it is said the report contains data unfavorable to Pearson and has been held up at the request of the state department lest the U.S. be accused of influencing a Canadian election... when it is printed let nothing be deleted. The American people have a right to know what influences have been at work separating these nations that have lived in peaceful co-operation for more than a century."

Whitehead's investment manager, Edwin J. Hill, 54, and journalist, Eric Limpkin, 38, were granted £4,000 bail each. Another writer, 53-year-old Cecil Barnett, was freed on £1,000 bail.

ARGUE AS CCF LEADER?
All that stands in the way of the two-party federal system that Canada left in 1921 are eight CCF members, remnants of the 25-member group that sat in the last Parliament.

They are without a House leader at the moment, 69-year-old M. J. Coldwell having been personally defeated in Saskatchewan's Rosetown-Biggan, along with another national party leader, Social Credit's 58-year-old Solon Low in Peace River, Alta.

Hazen Argue, Assiniboia, party whip last session, is considered a likely caucus choice for CCF House leader.

With the Liberals not holding a single seat in the three Prairie provinces, and the CCF's representation in that region confined to Assiniboia, Mr. Argue finds himself in the unique predicament of being the lone opposition voice for Canada's bread-basket.

The new parliament will be unusual in another respect. While the Conservatives have a giant majority in the Commons, the Liberals hold sway similarly in the Senate with 77 members compared with 17 Conservatives, two Independents and one Independent Liberal. There are only five Senate vacancies.

This could give rise to some delicate situations, especially on any controversial legislation. During the last short session, when the Conservatives ruled with a minority Commons representation, the Liberal senators co-operated fully in facilitating the passage of legislation — mostly non-controversial.

CHANCE FOR CANCER PATIENTS

Coin Rules on Drug Use

CHICAGO (AP) — The flip of a coin is deciding some cancer patients' chances for longer life.

The coin decides whether they will or won't be given anti-cancer drugs at the time of cancer surgery. The drugs are aimed at killing escaping cancer cells which could start new cancers elsewhere in the body later.

Some people can be given the drugs, others not.

Flipping a coin is one of the best ways of statistically choosing a random sample.

Dr. Warren H. Cole, surgeon-in-chief of the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital, describe the cancer experiments to science writers making an American Cancer Society tour of leading research centres.

Surgeons have been concerned that they cannot get all of a cancer or that malignant cells can be spread by the operation. Stray cancer cells have been found in veins leading from wounds. If there are too many, the body's natural defences may be overwhelmed.

Pearson Off for Florida; Top Tory Bids Him Goodbye

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson left Ottawa by air today for a week's rest in Florida and said "I'll be back to pick up the pieces."

One of the few people on hand to bid goodbye to Mr. Pearson whose party suffered a shattering defeat in Monday's election was Allister Grosart, national director of the Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Grosart had arrived at nearby Uplands airport from Prince Albert where he was with Prime Minister Diefenbaker on election night. When he learned from a Canadian Press reporter that Mr. and Mrs. Pearson were due to leave the airport by TCA for Florida he waited and extended best wishes to the Liberal leader and his wife.

EXCHANGE GREETINGS

When Mr. Pearson stepped from his car, Mr. Grosart shook hands with the Liberal leader and helped carry the Pearson luggage inside the Uplands air terminal building.

"Hello, how are you?" Mr. Pearson said with a big grin when Mr. Grosart approached him.

"I hope you are fine," Mr. Grosart said.

Mr. Pearson and Mr. Grosart, who directed the Conservative election campaign, chatted in the terminal until Mr. Pearson's plane was due to leave.

"I guess I know how you must feel," Mr. Grosart said.

"I was through the same thing in 1949 and 1953."

"We all have our ups and downs," Mr. Pearson said with a chuckle.

BASEBALL MAN

Mr. Pearson said he will be in Florida for about one week "doing absolutely nothing."

The Liberal leader—a former baseball player—said he hopes to visit West Palm Beach to watch the professional baseball teams during their spring training.

U.K. Labor Firms Stand On Test Ban

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's 279 Labor Party members of Parliament today agreed at a caucus to give "wide support" to party leader Hugh Gaitskell's nuclear policy.

Full discussion was held on a joint manifesto issued last month by party leaders and the 8,000,000-member Trades Union Congress.

The manifesto called for halting nuclear tests and deferring the construction of missile bases in Britain until summit talks, but advocated continued British production of nuclear weapons.

Upwards of 70 Labor members of Parliament earlier had demanded a halt to nuclear bomb production and rejection of missile bases.

FOLLOWS RUSSIA'S ACTION

Aneurin Bevan, chief Labor party spokesman on foreign affairs, told the meeting the party should oppose nuclear arms for West Germany until a genuine effort has been made to secure "disengagement" in central Europe.

Meantime, two leading London newspapers, "The Daily Telegraph, Conservative, and The Daily Herald, Labor, demanded a public statement from the government on its nuclear test policy in reply to Russia's suspension of tests, announced Monday.

Both newspapers made the call after Prime Minister Macmillan, pleading that Britain must consult with her allies, refused to make any formal statement on government policy in the House of Commons Tuesday. Macmillan fended off a barrage of socialist demands that Britain match Russia and stop testing the bomb.

He declared that suspension of tests must be "properly negotiated, properly tied up and be effective without endangering our own security."

The prime minister suggested the question should be "brought to a conclusion" at East-West summit talks — implying that Britain would not suspend her own tests before then.

U.S. ADMITS RUSS SCOOPS

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the admission of State Secretary Dulles, the United States is taking a propaganda beating from the Soviet Union.

Three times in three months Dulles has conceded important victories to what he calls the cleverness and unscrupulousness with which the Soviet Union peddles abroad policies the U.S. considers unsound.

The latest such admission came at a press conference Tuesday when Dulles said Russia's announcement of suspension of nuclear tests had won "a certain propaganda victory" which the U.S. had known about in advance but been unable to offset.

Tory Wins Confirmed Up-Island

Election victories of two Vancouver Island Conservatives were confirmed today with a nearly-complete count of votes cast in the federal election Monday.

With the count in Nanaimo's 137 polls complete, Walter S. Matthews was given 10,630 votes, and former MP Colin Cameron, CCF, was second with 9,981. Trailing were E. W. Miller, Liberal with 2,570, and Roy Folz, Social Credit, 1,050.

In Comox-Alberni, with 154 of 159 polls accounted for, Harry McQuillan with 11,351 votes held a decisive lead over Tom Barnett, CCF, with 9,528, who was seeking re-election to Parliament. In third and fourth places were Mark Stelling, Liberal, 2,275, and William Mullett, Social Credit, 1,336.

Prank Taken Seriously

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 31-year-old Vancouver draughtsman and a sailboat enthusiast has admitted his "save Ripple Rock" petition was an April Fool's gag.

Peter Stewart collected 100 signatures urging protection of the navigational hazard in the Seymour Narrows, due to be blown up Saturday in man's biggest non-atomic peacetime explosion.

He called for preservation of the infamous rock on grounds it was a natural historic landmark.

Tuesday he said he was surprised that "anyone took him seriously."

MAYORAL CHAIR ADDED TO TORY SEAT VICTORY

MONTREAL (CP) — Progressive Conservative John Pratt who retained his federal seat in Montreal Jacques Cartier-Bassile added another electoral victory Tuesday—as mayor of suburban Dorval.

He is the first man in Quebec province to stand for important elections on two consecutive days and sweep to victory in both.

Eclipse of Sinclair Great Liberal Loss

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jimmy Sinclair, who has been a member of Parliament for more than a third of his 49 years, has finally made his exit from the national political scene. It was a graceful and dignified exit.

Scots-born Mr. Sinclair, former fisheries minister and one of the Liberal party's ablest parliamentarians, lost his Coast-Capilano seat Monday to William Payne, Progressive Conservative.

The Conservative party had gone all-out to unseat the former Rhodes scholar, a product of Oxford and Princeton Universities, just as Social Credit did in last year's election.

Mr. Sinclair survived the 1957 Social Credit offensive handily. This year, while the Conservatives were concentrating much of their publicity campaign in Coast-Capilano, James Sinclair ranged far afield to speak for Liberal candidates in other ridings.

TRAILED BY 4,000 Monday night he joined the ranks of unemployed Liberal cabinet ministers. With most of the polls accounted for Mr. Sinclair trailed the Conservative candidate by more than 4,000 votes.

To Mr. Payne he said: "Nice going, Bill. It was a good fight. Congratulations."

In an interview Tuesday Mr. Sinclair welcomed his defeat for the opportunity it provides for a month's holiday.

Arbitration

MR. JUSTICE McINNES, who will arbitrate the electricians' dispute with the B.C. Electric, must work under great difficulties.

He is not permitted, by the agreement between the union and the company, to consider without restraint the basic economics of electrical production. He is restrained by the company's consent to pay a minimum of 19 per cent wage increase in certain categories, whether he agrees with that figure or not. He is entitled only to confirm that figure or increase it, regardless of all economic facts laid before him.

The figure of 19 per cent was fixed by a conciliation board in the course of collective bargaining. As in all such cases, the chief motive of a conciliation board was to secure an agreement between the disputants.

Such a board will customarily grant any wage increase that management is prepared to pay and the union will accept. Quite properly, the board is concerned only with the single dispute before it, and not with the effects of its decision in the economy as a whole. If it can avoid a strike, on any acceptable terms, its work is done.

Hence innumerable conciliation proceedings throughout the nation of recent years have resulted in continual wage increases, often in industries where there has been little or no increase in productivity. As a result, inevitably, prices have risen.

That is not the concern of the average conciliation board. Its concern is solely the settlement of an individual dispute. And a combination of such settlements has produced the wage-price push which is one of the main causes of the business recession all over North America.

The case of the B.C. Electric dispute, however, is different from most cases both in size and in kind.

In size the demands of the union are far greater than most. The electricians rejected a 19 per cent wage increase, though most unions have settled their recent disputes at a fraction of that figure. A strike called to secure an annual income for the electricians up to $8,800, including fringe benefits, is probably unique in Canada if not in the world for any comparable trade.

The present dispute is different in kind from most others because it involves a public utility and all increases in its costs are chargeable directly to the community as users of electricity. It is different also because it is to be settled not by collective bargaining but by arbitration, on the final, independent word of one man, Mr. Justice McInnes.

The Dilemma of Defence

WITH THE SUPERSONIC CF-105 interceptor estimated to cost $4 millions each if it is put into production, and the Argus submarine hunter priced at $3.5 millions, it is easy to understand the problem faced by the Canadian Government in budgeting for military defence.

Such costs, deriving from the many man-hours of work that go into each unit, and the increasingly expensive electronic equipment that is required, constitute a major drain on the country's resources. But the problem is not solved with purchase of such armaments, for the speed of technological evolution today, particularly in aerial defence, means that equipment is obsolete almost before it is off the drawing board.

The supersonic planes of today would have been spectacularly successful in the Second World War. As recently as the Korean War they would have given immense advantage to the users. But of what use will such aircraft—or even speedier types—be against missiles which are projected so high and so fast that interception is impossible?

Good Plan for Saanich

SAANICH'S NEWLY-APPOINTED parks supervisor, Mr. A. E. Richman, has presented a promising development plan for his municipality.

The proposal covers general beautification of the district through improvement of private gardens, the creation of more recreation and sports grounds, the establishment of an arboretum, and close co-operation with other Greater Victoria municipalities in parks matters.

The scheme seems as ambitious as the supervisor and the people of Saanich want to make it and, at the same time, appears to be practical.

It deserves the thoughtful consideration and endorsement of Saanich to meet the needs of a population second in size only to the city amongst local municipalities and growing vigorously.

Say Chaps, Who's for a Duel?

IT SCARCELY REFLECTED THE spirit of d'Artagnan, Athis, Porthos or Aramis when the 72-year-old ballet impresario, the Marquis de Cuevas, pinked 52-year-old choreographer Serge Lifar in the so-called "affair of honor" which produced the best publicized French duel of recent seasons.

The combatants, according to report, sparred gingerly for three-quarters of the engagement before the septuagenarian managed to scratch his opponent on the forearm with a sterilized blade and then swooned.

The shades of the Three Musketeers are probably swooning too. But look at the publicity!

And now chaps, who's for the forthcoming ballet, "The Duel"? Or should they stop these youngsters from playing with sharp-pointed toys?

A Natural Selection

A FEW days ago the news columns carried an account of significant changes that have occurred in a certain species of moth in Britain. Over a period of years the moths have changed from being almost uniformly white to being almost uniformly black. The transition is seen as an outstanding example of Darwin's theory of evolution through natural selection and it is particularly appropriate that it should be reported on this year. Besides being the B.C. centenary, 1958 is also the one-hundredth anniversary of the publication of Darwin's observations and conclusions on evolution. A year later the whole theory was detailed in his famous book, On the Origin of Species.

Tobin

Now on View

The moths' recent demonstration of what has apparently been going on since the dawn of life seems as neat a proof as any.

Years ago, when the countryside in sections of Britain was still free of industrial smoke and soot, the moths were white and lived happily and relatively safely on the light-colored bark of trees. But a few decades later the increasingly dirty air created by factory and city chimneys had left its mark on the surrounding woodlands. The picture had darkened, as it were, and tree bark was more or less permanently dirtied by black deposits.

No two moths, or leaves, are ever exactly alike. Among the variations produced, by the race of white moths were occasional black ones. The light-colored trees, however, gave these dark cousins little encouragement. Most of them were picked off by the birds at an early age and failed to reproduce in any numbers.

Favorable Conditions

But as the general environment of the moths darkened—that is, as the tree bark became blackened—the black moths became more noticeable. The birds didn't spot them so easily and they began to thrive. They reproduced more, and an increasing number of black moths was found among the white.

The white moths, on the other hand, began to stand out against the darkening tree trunks. Their mortality went up as it became more difficult to camouflage themselves against the bark. Fewer of them survived to bring up families. This left less competition for the black moths, and gradually the complexion of the whole moth species swung over from light to dark. The environment of the moths had made its selection.

Today the species is black, although its gradual evolution can be traced. That process of change is what Darwin came to believe in as a result of his painstaking studies at home and on a five-year-long voyage in the south seas.

It wasn't any snap judgment, either. He thought the problem over for many years before coming to his conclusions, and subjected his ideas continually to tests and criticism.

As he said of himself: "I have steadily endeavored to keep my mind free so as to give up any hypothesis, however much beloved (and I cannot resist forming one on every subject), as soon as facts are shown to be opposed to it."

In this he showed the true scientific approach to nature. His zeal in ferreting out facts was one of the basic components of his genius. He assembled a wealth of information on species and likenesses, on their differences and like-nesses, such as had never been seen before. And he had the understanding and the imagination to use to advantage what he had observed.

Darwin's passion for truth took second place, however, to his respect for justice. Although he had written of his new theory at length to several other scientists he had never published his work. In the summer of 1856 he was about to give it to the public in the form of a paper to be read before the Linnaean Society in London.

Only a few days before the meeting he received from another scientist, Alfred R. Wallace, who was then doing research in the East Indies, a brief to pass on to the Society president. What was Darwin's amazement to find that Wallace had duplicated his years of work and here presented an outline of the theory of natural selection almost in Darwin's own words.

Joint Presentation

Darwin immediately offered to withdraw his own paper and give Wallace a clear field at the Society meeting. But the Society's officers, to their credit, refused to permit this sacrifice. Darwin's and Wallace's papers were presented together, and the joint discoveries burst on the learned world like a bombshell.

The repercussions, of course, were immediate and have not ceased to this day. The famous Oxford debate between Huxley and Bishop Wilberforce added fuel to the flames. A notion of the intensity of feeling engendered may be gained from the exchange between these two prominent men in the course of the debate.

Bishop Wilberforce asked Huxley on which side of his family he claimed descent from a monkey. Huxley replied that he preferred as an ancestor a monkey rather than a literate and gifted man who talked about things he did not understand and took advantage of religious prejudice to do so.

Familiar-Accepted

Few churchmen today take the extreme stand of Wilberforce. The facts of nature and the Biblical account of life have achieved a compromise which the patient student, Darwin, no doubt would have been happy to see.

For Darwin, observing what nature had presented to his view, and trying to read the message it contained, brought to his scientific labors much of the philosophy he had earlier imbibed as a theological student at Cambridge.

"Disinterested love for all living creatures," he said, "is the most noble attribute of man." Bishop Wilberforce himself could not have summed it up better.

April 2, 1898—London: Queen Victoria is thoroughly enjoying the fine weather in the south of France. She is in good health and drives twice a day and has a number of small official dinner parties.

April 2, 1918—Paris: The French premier, while making his daily visit to the front, yesterday ventured so near the first line that his auto was shelled vigorously and windows broken. He was unhurt.

April 2, 1938—Calgary: Unemployed, released from B.C. relief camps which closed March 21, are heading into Calgary at the rate of 60 a day. They are given a meal and wash, and told to move on.

As Our Readers See It

Should Resign

Two years ago I sat as City of Victoria representative on the conciliation board re firemen's demand for increased wages.

Halford Wilson, a paid alderman of the City of Vancouver then acted for the firemen of Victoria. The recent appointment is the seventh time Alderman Wilson has been appointed and has presumably been paid for his services by the Victoria firemen.

At the time I thought it unusual that a Vancouver alderman should or could accept such an assignment.

Alderman Curtis of Victoria has now raised strong objection in the matter condemning such an appointment as morally wrong and the Victoria City Council has unanimously backed his resolution asking for legislation to prevent a recurrence of such appointments.

In the circumstances the very best thing Alderman Wilson could do would be to resign from the present appointment as Victoria firemen's representative immediately.

If He'd Stayed Conservative

Well, well, well! Call a plumber; better still call Wacky the political wisecracker. Social Credit has gone down the drain.

As we gleefully watched the returns being marked up, with markings that marked the complete demise of "Funny Money" as a political nuisance that will no longer annoy rational Canadians, we really felt sort of sorry for a certain man from New Brunswick.

That man may now lose his well-published, happy smile—replaced by a gaze of gloom—so as to harmonize with the automatic dejection now seen on the faces of grass-root Socialists from coast to coast.

Too bad, Mr. Bennett! Just think where you might have gone, if you had remained a good Conservative. But now! There's another drain; and it's waiting for what's left of your political ambitions.

Spending B.C.'s Money

A certain politician in this province, with the bit in his teeth, and reason thrown to the winds, is determined to take $57 million more than he actually needs, from the taxpayers, in order to counterbalance the entire direct debt this fiscal year.

There is neither need or justification for his action, but the gratification of his own ego, and his desire to parade in public in a mantle of superior virtue and ethics. If he wished to be entirely clear of personal debt and repay it from his own pocket, he is worthy of commendation. Does his government pay off the public debt that way? Certainly not.

Where are they getting the money? When introduced in B.C. hospital insurance was financed by legislative authority by a special levy, the Sales Tax. Two-thirds of this was allotted to hospitals, one-third for municipal aid.

Has the legislative assembly ever authorized the change in hospital financ-

FROM WASHINGTON By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

Slow Footwork

AMERICAN policy makers received the announcement of a Kremlin decision to suspend all further Soviet tests of nuclear weapons for a considerable trial period while this emotion-charged question was being negotiated by the leading powers.

The Kremlin had already underlined its sinfulness and its own attachment to the "cause of peace" by denouncing the oncoming American program of nuclear weapons tests at the United Nations. The effect of these gracious gestures on our allies and the world will not be lessened, either, by the fact that the Soviets have obviously just completed all the tests of nuclear weapons they have any present need to make.

The Soviet test series, in itself a remarkable phenomenon, began eight months ago. Since last August their tests have been made both singly and in groups, and at a new proving ground north of the Arctic Circle as well as at the Siberian proving ground always previously used.

Rather early in the series, a powerful fusion device was exploded at very high altitude, other weapons tested have been described as "substantial" in size, having "a large yield," and "in the megaton range."

Considerable numbers of small weapons have also been tested, and on two occasions, there have been two tests of different weapons on the same day. In all, fifteen weapons tests have been made in eight months.

This statistic is all the more striking because the Soviets have made only 39 tests in all since their first successful atomic shot in 1949.

Important Step

The tests gave no indication of any serious Soviet competition with the American effort to get a clean nuclear bomb. But the high altitude explosion of a fusion device must be interpreted as an important step in Soviet development of anti-aircraft rockets with a nuclear warhead.

Various signs understood by the scientists indicate that a good many of the other weapons tested have been physically very compact, and therefore suitable for delivery by medium and long-range ballistic missiles.

Such is the Soviet test story, which adds just the right note of grim irony to the predicament of the American policy makers. Judging by the increasing passion of the debate about nuclear weapons in both Britain and West Germany, the American policy makers' predicament is very unpleasant indeed as a result of the Kremlin's phoney announcement of a voluntary suspension of fur-ing from 23 of Sales Tax receipts, to 25 of receipts?

Sales Tax revenue, 1957, was $86,000,000; two-thirds of that is $57,333,334; two-fifths of total is $34,400,000.

While hospitals operate in the red, and plead for increased accommodation for increasing patients, these coldblooded Pharisees deprive them of $23 million to pay off the bondholders ahead of time. If the bondholders were demanding payment ahead of time, those Pharisees would be heaping loud abuse upon them, as did the first Social Credit premier of Alberta.

Schools boards formerly received, in a lump sum, half the cost of new schools. That left half capital expenditure to repay, or pay interest on. Now school boards carry the full load, the province pays half the annual payments, prolonging the debt, increasing the cost to both authorities.

The Premier boasts that huge expansion programs and debt reduction are being financed with revenue from "natural resources." Is $86 million Sales Tax, "natural resources"?

1045 Joan Crescent,

Could Stand Such Defeats

Your editorial on the end of the electrical strike is, I feel, highly encouraging.

For one thing, it displays what Canadian literature has so often lacked, the rare gift of fantasy. This comes across most vividly in such statements as the one that the electricians, by getting a single year, have "accepted defeat."

Most of us would accept any number of such defeats; though of course we appreciate they are reserved for workers in such industries as (1) do not have to extract the price of their products from foreigners but can get it all from their fellow-citizens; (2) are in a position to paralyze the community if it should prove recalcitrant.

It is also encouraging to find that the settlement of such disputes is to be kept where it belongs, i.e. in the hands of the "best people." The redoubtable Dal Grauer, standing securely astride the top of the economic pyramid, may, naturally, be relied on to reach down a helping hand to raise the less fortunate to his own level (about three more years should do it); and the same no doubt is true of the learned justice. The labor court you mention would also doubtless be composed of similarly situated individuals who would hasten to play the Good Samaritan to those now lying, as you so poignantly phrase it, "defeated" on the road from Jerusalem to Jericho.

The great danger to be avoided, as you appear to recognize, is letting the riffraff of the country, i.e. that vast, grimy, under-$7,000-a-year mass called the general public, have any say in these matters. Knowing human nature, it is, I fear, all too likely that, lacking the godlike vision of Uncle Dal and the distinguished judge, they might so far yield to envy as to come to decisions which, though no doubt beneficial to themselves, could only work hardship on those whom it is the duty, and, indeed, the privilege of all of us to support.

DEREK PETHICK.

their nuclear tests as a "contribution to peace."

The phoniness will hardly be noted, in either Germany or Britain, or indeed anywhere else. The Kremlin initiative will be taken at face value.

The British government of Prime Minister Macmillan will be under particularly heavy public pressure to match the Kremlin's gesture with a similar gesture of its own. In his present weak political situation at home, Macmillan may even be driven to take independent action if the United States hangs back.

Meanwhile, as the American government insists on continuing its nuclear tests the U.S. will be denounced for bloody-mindedness and intransigence.

And it would not be much better if we said we were also ready to end nuclear tests, after making adequate provisions for inspection, as the President vaguely hinted we might eventually say at his last press conference. For in this latter case, we shall just appear to "meet" the Soviet initiative, and the credit for ending tests will go to the Soviets.

Advance Warning

Just to increase the irony a little further, there is the additional fact that the American government had ample warning of the Kremlin's intentions. Weeks have passed since the intelligence analysts first warned the State Department and the Atomic Energy Commission that they must be ready for a Kremlin announcement of voluntary test suspension.

Even before this warning, the idea of closing the atomic club by agreeing to end tests was already gaining ground within the administration. One could predict that this idea would eventually become firm policy. It was even described in certain high circles as the one positive thing that might be agreed upon at a summit meeting.

But fighting the whole trend with great bitterness and astuteness was the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Admiral Lewis Strauss, with his staff and allied scientists.

The committee meetings that were held on all levels after the intelligence warning were given with argument and discord. Secretary of State Dulles, who alone might have made a decision, was away until very recently on the conference circuit. So the final policy decision was the one that has become increasingly usual. It was the decision to do nothing, to remain impasive, to wait dumbly for the other side's blow, because agreeing to do nothing was easier than agreeing to do something.

Fast Mail Crusade

LONDON—Short takes. . . Having been filmed in the 1920s (with Martin Harvey) and in the 1930s (with Ronald Colman), "A Tale of Two Cities" gets another screening, this time with Dick Bogarde playing the Sydney Carton part and Dorothy Tutin also in the cast. I found myself waiting for the famous line, "It is a far, far better thing I do . . ." and it's a long but interesting wait, for of course it's the last line of the story. It's very effective in this new version, the lights going up to reveal most of the audience reaching surreptitiously for their handkerchiefs.

Reyburn New play opening here, "Epitaph for George Dillon," is not really new. It's an oldie written four years ago by John Osborne and a friend and it's being staged to cash in on the "Look Back in Anger" man's current fame.

He admits he revels in the fuss being made of him.

Every so often I will get a few hundred letters from people who have written under the impression that I have for distribution a lot of free booklets. I am sorry I haven't any such booklets, but I have quite an assortment of booklets and books which I have prepared to help lay persons to understand such common diseases as "nerves," cancer, high blood pressure, heart disease, arthritis, allergy, migraine, "colitis," etc. I'll be happy to send a list of these and others of my publications to anyone who is interested if they will send an addressed, stamped envelope. Already people are asking me about my latest book, "Live at Peace With Your Nerves," which has just appeared in the bookstores. I have put into it much of my philosophy about living happily with one's self, one's wife, one's children and one's fellow workers.

ADOPTED PERSONS

Thousands of people who have adopted children wonder if they should or should not tell the child that he has been adopted. I think experts now agree that he should be told and he should be told early. It is bad for a grown child suddenly to discover, perhaps in some unfortunate way, that he is adopted, and that for years his foster parents were not honest with him. Sometimes the child learns the truth and says nothing; he just broods and becomes bitter and resentful. How much better, when the parents are honest and discuss the matter freely. Often, they say to the child, "You are rather special. Most parents have to take what they got in the way of children, but we went and chose you because we loved you right off."

One of the best discussions of this problem I found in a book called "Adventuring in Adoption," by Lee M. and Evelyn C. Brooks. They wrote, "The safest weapon that can be put in the hands of the child as he faces the world beyond his door is the knowledge of his adoption. The parent should often say, 'How glad we are that we picked you out.' The parents must keep making an effort to protect the child from getting the impression that somehow or other he is different from other children, and possibly inferior to them. The best way is just to answer the child's questions briefly and honestly when he asks them.

Much digging going on at Hyde Park Corner, the world's worst traffic bottle-neck. But it's not the beginning of the tunnel. They're merely taking earth samples to decide how best to dig the underpass that will eventually link Piccadilly with Knightsbridge and save for many a motorist the nightmare of getting across this notorious intersection.

Snowdrops, crocuses and other spring flowers, having poked their heads out in Regent's Park (earliest for many a year), are now wishing they hadn't. The spring-like weather we've been having—I was gardening last week—seems to have run out.

A while ago there came to my desk a booklet called "The Adopted Break Silence," by Jean M. Paton. She gives the experiences and views of 40 adults who were adopted. All those persons who are deeply interested in this problem of adoption might be helped by reading this booklet.

BUST DEVELOPERS

Many women with small breasts write me much disappointed because they have tried out some of the "bust developers" advertised in many of the public prints, and have gotten no results. They just lost their money. Unfortunately, these women did not know that some four years ago the chemists of the American Medical Association analyzed these nostrums and found they contain an herb called Galega, which, so far as the drug experts know, can have no effect on breasts.

For years, the United States Post Office Department has been issuing fraud orders against some of these people but these orders cannot do much good because all the quack needs do is change his name and the name of his bust-developer, and then to go on as before, fishing for suckers.

CLAMMY HANDS

Many highly-nervous or neurotic young people are terribly distressed over their cold, wet, clammy hands. Naturally, they wonder if anything can be done to help them. They are so embarrassed when they have to shake hands with someone. The trouble is due to the person's extreme self-consciousness, and the anxiety over what sort of an impression he is going to make. A "little storm" goes down the nerves from the brain to the hands—a storm which causes the blood vessels to cramp down and become cold, and causes the sweat glands to work overtime.

I remember an unhappy girl who could hardly work as a secretary because her hands were always so wet that she soiled the paper on which she had been typing. Unfortunately, I do not know of any drugs which will surely dry these wet hands. I have heard of some being used, but most of the patients reported later that in their case the drug had not helped. If I had such hands I think I would make a tremendous effort to be calm and to fight self-consciousness.

Daffodil Varieties --By the Hundreds

No one living in or near Victoria should allow the daffodil season to pass without giving himself the pleasure of visiting one of the commercial daffodil bulb gardens.

Some will be astonished at the hundreds of varieties which come under the general name of narcissus. Those more familiar with the genus from growing many kinds themselves will be looking for the new and unusual.

Pure white varieties like Beersheba have been grown for 30 years and more, and the first pink trumpet daffodil, Mrs. R. O. Backhouse, came out about the same time. Both were priced at $50 each. Today they

Soviet Travel Ban Hints Big Manoeuvre

LONDON (AP)—The banning of foreign diplomats from travel in four big areas of the Soviet Union led British officials to speculate today that extensive air and military exercises may be under way.

There also was unofficial speculation that the Russians may be planning some new project into outer space soon. The British Embassy in Moscow asked recently whether any restrictions were likely to interfere with the Easter travel plans of British diplomats.

The Russians replied the Ukraine, the Crimea and the Caucasus would be closed until April 8 and that the central Asian area would be out of bounds until April 15.

The Sunday Times said several leading Russian rocket and space scientists disappeared recently from Moscow. The newspaper deduced that the Russians might soon try to reach the moon.

Teacher Beaten By Teen-Agers

Mrs. Ethel Tinsler, 45, a teacher at Denby High School, said she was slugged in the face and stomach when she asked the youths for their student identity cards. They then fled.

Wider Sea Borders Sought

GENEVA, Switzerland (CP)—Britain today proposed an extension of territorial waters from three to six miles in a surprise motion placed before the 87-country conference on laws of the sea.

But the extension must not affect existing rights of passage for aircraft and vessels, including warships, outside the present three-mile limit, the proposal said.

The international law commission has suggested that territorial waters should not extend beyond 12 miles.

The United States and Greece have also submitted proposals, both setting the breadth of the territorial sea at three miles. Canada has proposed a 12-mile limit for fishing but the retention of the three-mile limit for all other purposes.

The conference also today narrowly approved a new principle of international law, in effect legalizing passage of Israeli ships through Arab waters to Israel's southern port of Eilat.

The conference approved the principle 31 to 30 over the opposition of Arab countries and the Soviet bloc. It provides for the innocent passage of foreign ships through straits connecting the high seas with the territorial waters of a coastal state.

Cancer Drive Underway In B.C. for $250,000

B.C. Conquer Cancer Campaign swung into a month-long drive for funds today with sights set on a target of $250,000.

Some 10,000 letters of appeal are in the mail to Greater Victoria firms and individuals. As in past years, there will be no house-to-house canvass.

Instead, donations should be sent to Victoria Conquer Cancer Campaign headquarters, Black Ball Ferry Bldg., 816 Wharf Street.

Local campaign chairman again this year is Dugald Gillespie.

HASTEN PROGRESS

In a statement today, Mr. Gillespie called on Victorians to support the annual drive.

"The dollars you donate this year will hasten the greatest contribution science can make to humanity," he said, "the effective control of cancer."

Last year more than $190,000 of funds collected in B.C. was allotted to research and research facilities.

The drive also will benefit the Victoria Cancer Clinic at Royal Jubilee Hospital which last year admitted 457 new patients and carried out 14,226 examinations and treatments.

Other campaign officials are K. L. Patton, treasurer, and K. W. L. Scace, secretary.

On the special names and business committee are Wallace Courtney, W. Dunnet, Col. D. G. Ross-Smith, V. G. Pinhorn, A. E. Meharey, William Gilmour, C. Carpenter, J. G. B.C. Labor Plans Big 'Defence Fund'

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia labor has begun a "defence fund" to protect itself from what it calls "an all-out attack" by big business.

The B.C. Federation of Labor told the Vancouver Labor Council Tuesday B.C. unions are being asked to contribute five cents per member to the fund.

Purpose of the fund will be mainly to issue a special newspaper giving labor's side of the story.

The federation claims management has been active in recent months campaigning against labor's right to strike and has advocated wage freezes during the current recession.

Alaska Pine Operations Hit at Probe

CHILLIWACK (CP)—The Sloan commission on forestry resumed here today, and one of the two briefs presented came from a man who described himself as "a small cat logger". On the stand was Patrick Brennan, who charged Alaska Pine & Cellulose, Limited, is American controlled, and "their primary interest is not in British Columbia but in the U.S.A."

He stated competition in the pulp industry had been eliminated by the new owners, Rayonier Corporation of New York, and that Canadian production was being curtailed to balance American production.

Under cross-examination by Alaska Pine secretary, Gordon Draeske, Brennan admitted not being aware that four to eight company directors live in Canada. He said also he was unaware American firms controlled by Rayonier had been shut down a larger percentage of time than Canadian plants under the same organization.

Brennan contended the alleged close-down policy was the reason for closing Woodfibre in Howe Sound.

Draeske said the plant was closed for an "indefinite" period, but denied it was because of American control.

"It was purely a matter of economics," he said, "there just isn't any market at this time for that plant's production."

Brennan called on the commissioner, Gordon Sloan, to examine the question of American getting control of forest management licences by United States interests purchasing firms after they obtained the licences.

Gordon Probe Final Report Due Tuesday

OTTAWA (CP)—Final report of the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects will be made public here Tuesday.

The commission's first report—a 140-page, 60,000-word document—was released Jan. 10, 1957. This was followed by a series of reports on various segments of the economy made for the commission by organizations and individuals.

The commission, headed by Walter L. Gordon, held public hearings across Canada from Oct. 18, 1955, until Aug. 9, 1956.

Amputee Air Rescue Hero

BISHOP, Calif. (AP)—A tall amputee who believes in "getting things done and going through the red tape later" is the hero of California's High Sierra.

Bob Symons, 48 years old today, has been called the most fabulous pilot I've ever seen" by airmen who need not take a back seat to anyone themselves.

Symons is Bishop's fire commissioner and a city councilman as well as a chief warrant officer in the Civil Air Patrol. During the last week, with a variety of heart-throbbing aerobatics, he located the wreckage of a helicopter that was lost in the High Sierra, then guided another helicopter through heavy weather to the spot.

Then, after a few hours of sleep, he was called in by hay chopper on his father's nearby ranch.

Does it hamper his flying?

"Not a bit. In fact, in a way, it's a help. The wooden leg never falls asleep."

Symons once held the world's record for altitude soaring in a two-place glider, at 38,650 feet, and has been up to 40,800 feet in a single-seater.

A versatile fellow in every sense, he is also president of the Bishop Chamber of Commerce and runs his own flying service where he rents planes and instructs pupils, as well as operating the Piper Cub dealership.

Stern Warning To Prowlers At Airfield

Operators of the Butler-Howroyd private airfield at Keating are prepared to deal harshly with thieves who have been stealing gas from aircraft.

Claude Butler, Victoria Flying Club president and partner in the field, said several teenagers have been warned, but that the risk of damage through clumsy tampering is too high to permit it to continue.

"A little dirt in a fuel tank, or a damaged fitting, could cause a plane to fail in mid-air," he said.

The field will be fenced and locked in future, he said, and strangers inside the field will be challenged.

About 15 privately-owned and operated light aircraft are based at the field.

The 1958 objective of the Canadian Cancer Campaign is $2,484,000. More money will be spent on research than ever before.

Giant Pole To Plug B.C. Centenary

LONDON (Reuters) — A 214-foot flagpole — the tallest in the world — is to be erected in London's Kew Gardens next year to mark the centenary of British Columbia. It was announced today.

The pole, made from a 371-year-old Douglas fir, will replace the present flagstaff, a familiar landmark for the last 40 years, which has become decayed at the top.

The new pole will continue a century-old tradition, started when the first flagstaff from British Columbia was erected in Kew Gardens in 1861.

London has three other British Columbia flagstaffs — one at the Festival Hall on the south bank of the Thames, another on Hempstead Heath and a third at the Tower of London. All have come, as will the new one, from the forests of Vancouver Island, famous for its tall trees since the days when Captain Cook remasted his ships there nearly 200 years ago.

INCOME TAX TIPS

Alimony Fees Deductible

As a special service to Times readers, Gordon Holmes, Victoria chartered accountant, has agreed to provide a series of articles dealing with income tax problems to help eliminate the trouble sometimes experienced in filing proper returns.

By GORDON HOLMES

Alimony payments are an allowable deduction under the Income Tax Act, providing they meet certain conditions.

These conditions are that the amounts paid as alimony must be pursuant to a decree, order or judgment for divorce or separation; or pursuant to a written separation agreement. The amounts must be paid on the periodic basis for the maintenance of the wife, children of the marriage, or both. Another condition is that the recipient is living apart from her former husband.

The husband must deduct these alimony payments from his gross income for tax purposes. However, the exemptions enjoyed as married man and father will no longer apply unless of course the taxpayer has remarried.

Where a husband has deserted his family and the wife has obtained a court order requiring him to make periodic payments, such payments are not rightly considered alimony for income tax purposes.

4% SURTAX

Alimony payments are investment income in the hands of the recipient and are subject to the 4 per cent investment surtax should the alimony plus other investment income exceed $2,500.

In the year of divorce or separation it is probable that in some part of the tax year the marriage was under one roof. In this event the taxpayer has the alternative of deducting alimony and taking single status or of claiming the dependents' exemptions he would have been allowed if the marriage had not been terminated.

As far as the Income Tax Act is concerned, the common-law wife has no status.

Regular medical check-ups and lung X-rays are important in the control of cancer. Detection of cancer in its early stages improves chances of successful treatment.

Talks Resume With Teachers After Holidays

Reopening of salary negotiations between Greater Victoria Teachers' Association and Greater Victoria School Board is slated for the week of April 14.

Reflector Tape For 500 Bikes In Sidney Area

Central Saanich police and Sidney RCMP co-operating with PTA council and Sidney Kinsmen Club wrapped up a bicycle safety crusade this week by furnishing 500 bikes with reflector tape.

The drive follows the death last year of a 19-year-old cyclist in a pre-dawn collision with a car on Patricia Bay Highway.

In addition to the red "scotch-lite" tape, bikes received a safety inspection on such points as adequate brakes, solid chain, firmly attached wheels, handle bars, pedals and fenders.

Cyclists who passed were given a certificate of safety.

RN Frigate to Sink Abandoned Vessel

OSLO, Norway (Reuters) — A British naval frigate was reported ready today to sink an emigrant ship abandoned in the Indian Ocean as a danger to navigation.

The 1,287 survivors of the Australia-bound emigrant ship which went up in flames Tuesday are on their way to Aden in the Italian liner Roma. They were transferred to the Roma from the British liner City of Sydney, which picked them up.

Following a preliminary meeting Tuesday, GVTA bargaining chairman Walter Kitley and school board finance chairman Kenneth Leeming, each confirmed meetings will begin again following the Easter school holiday.

Negotiations broke off earlier this year when trustees offered a 6½ per cent wage increase, then refused further talks. Teachers had asked 13 per cent.

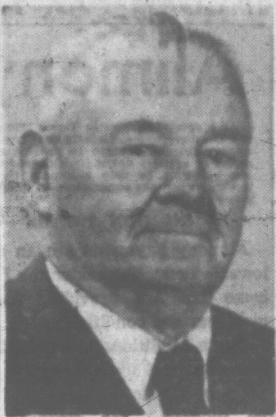

BLACKLISTED

As a result, the GVTA joined with 26 other school districts in the province in a campaign to discourage other teachers from taking jobs in non-agreement areas.

The situation was resolved by intervention of Education Minister Leslie Peterson. Reopened talks will be carried out with attendance of conciliators appointed by both the B.C. Teachers' Federation and the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

During the Easter holidays, which start Friday, many teachers will attend a BCTF convention in Vancouver, April 7 to 10.

$50,000 Cutback In City Revenue

City of Victoria revenues will be reduced about $50,000 this year due to changes in the Public Schools Act passed at the last session of the legislature.

City comptroller Dennis A. Young said Tuesday the Greater Victoria School District will in future claim about one-third of federal grants paid the city in lieu of taxes on federal properties.

INTO RESERVE

The money must be placed in a reserve fund for application next year, said Mr. Young.

Mr. Young hopes work will begin on compiling the 1958 city budget April 28.

He could offer no guesses on the budget outcome, as it refers to city taxes, until it is known what share of school costs will be paid by the province.

Schedule of grants to be paid the municipalities toward the cost of teachers' salaries, has still to be released by the education department.

OTTAWA (CP)—A coroner's jury, inquiring into the death of a district man in whose abdomen a pair of forceps was found after his death, urged Tuesday night that stricter regulations be adopted by hospital operating rooms.

David Bastien, 58, of nearby Cheneville, Que., died in Ottawa General Hospital Feb. 1 after complaining of constant abdominal pains. He had been operated on in July, 1957, at the same hospital to remove his spleen.

Widening Proposal For Blanshard St.

Development of Blanshard Street as a main thoroughfare was recommended Tuesday as a long-range project by the city council public works committee.

The city engineer, J. C. Garrett, said a soon-to-be-released district development plan, by Capital Region Planning Board, would extend the street beyond Hillside to join with North Douglas.

The committee proposed council consider the street for widening, but not for "many, many years".

BIG CLEANUP JOB STARTS

Paris Back to Normal As Huge Strike Ends

PARIS (Reuters) — Thousands of overflowing garbage cans lined Paris streets today as public service workers began a massive cleanup after a 24-hour strike that paralyzed France Tuesday.

The country returned to near-normal as transport and other government employees went back to their jobs.

Thousands of Parisians who had hitch-hiked to work Tuesday rode to work normally on the buses and underground system, which started working early this morning. Trains began to run again on normal schedules.

Airlines, grounded by the strike of control and security men at the airports, also began running normal schedules this morning.

The strike was intended by union leaders as a warning to the government that it must halt the rising cost of living and bring wages in the state-run services in line with those in private industry.

GROUP CAPT. PETER TOWNSEND seen with policeman escort on his way to keep memorable tea date with Princess Margaret in London last week. (Mirrorpic.)

AFTER RUMORED FAMILY SPAT

Margaret Solemn At RAF Reunion

LONDON (UP) — Princess Margaret and Queen Elizabeth appeared together Tuesday night for the first time since Peter Townsend's date with the princess set off rumors of a family spat. The Queen was radiant but Margaret looked solemn. They attended a dinner commemorating the 40th anniversary of the Royal Air Force. Elizabeth drove from Buckingham Palace with Prince Philip. Margaret rode with Queen Mother Elizabeth from their home at Clarence House. The princess smiled briefly for photographers as she arrived at RAF headquarters but during most of the dinner she appeared preoccupied. It was the first joint appearance by the royal sisters since they met alone Sunday. Their hour-long conversation then was believed to have concerned Townsend, the RAF ace whose love Margaret renounced in 1955. The Queen was reported upset because Margaret saw Townsend last week only a few hours after he returned from a long world tour. The meeting took top billing in British newspapers over a state visit the Queen was then paying to The Netherlands.

Lower Price Scale Set for Aluminum

New levels of prices for primary aluminum produced by the Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited, and sold on the Canadian domestic and export markets have now been established, it was announced today by Fraser W. Bruce, president of the Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited, following last week's announcement that price cuts would be made by April 1. The changes effective April 1, for commercial grade aluminum ingot of 99.5 per cent minimum purity are as follows: In Canada, 22.5 cents per pound delivered to customers' works, compared to 24.5 cents previously. In the United Kingdom, the new price is £190 per long ton delivered, compared to £197 previously, and on this basis in Western Europe and international markets generally, the former price of 24.63 cents per pound CIF is reduced to 22.5 cents per pound. In the United States, 24 cents per pound delivered, compared to 26 cents per pound previously.

First Aluminum Shipped From New Canadian Plant

BAEJ COMEAU, Que. (CP) — The British freighter Manchester Regiment prepared to sail today with the first cargo of aluminum ingot produced here by Canadian British Aluminum Company Limited.

The Manchester Regiment opened the local navigation season when she docked here Monday. Her skipper, Capt. Downing, was presented with a tray made from one of the first aluminum bars cast in the factory.

54 CANDIDATES LOSE DEPOSITS

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than half of B.C.'s 93 candidates lost their $200 deposits in Monday's election.

When counting stopped Monday night, it appeared certain 54 candidates polled less than the required percentage of votes. Under federal election procedure, the deposits go to the treasury unless a candidate polls half as much as the winner.

Liberal and Social Credit candidates were heavy losers with 19 deposits lost each.

10,000 Acclaim Pope Pius At Holy Week Audience

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius held a giant holy week general audience in St. Peter's Basilica today as thousands of tourists and pilgrims gathered in Rome for Easter.

More than 10,000 persons hailed the head of the Roman Catholic Church as he was carried on his portable throne into the basilica.

As he usually does upon these occasions, he greeted the pilgrim groups in Italian, English, French, Spanish, German and Portuguese.

Rome officials estimate that more than 80,000 visitors have already gathered in the city, and their number is expected to increase considerably by Easter Sunday, when the Pope will give his annual Easter message to the world.

INCREASED IMPORTANCE

In recent years this annual address has more and more approached in importance his annual Christmas message to the world.

As it was last year, the address will be heard by thousands in St. Peter's Square and will be carried to millions more by Eurovision, a European television network of several countries.

Radio networks will carry his words to millions more and the translations of his address, as with his Christmas message, will be broadcast in more than 24 languages by Vatican radio.

As he always has in his Christmas and Easter messages, the Pope is expected once again to make a plea for peace.

VOLUNTEERS MAKE GOOD IN FIRST CALL TO FIRE

NORTH OYSTER (CP) — The recently-organized North Oyster Volunteer Fire Department received its first emergency call Tuesday night and came through with flying colors.

Fire broke out in the old tippie and washer at the Cassidy coal mine. Twelve men responded and concentrated their efforts on keeping the flames from reaching the old mine dump, which contains hundreds of thousands of tons of slack.

The peril was averted in a brisk, one-hour battle. The dump has not been used since 1932 and the slack was extremely dry.

Lawyer Imprisoned On Perjury Charges

VANCOUVER (CP)—City lawyer George G. Chapman, 40, was sentenced Monday to three years in penitentiary on perjury charges.

His client Samuel J. Carra, 27, a shipyard worker, was given two years less a day.

Both were found guilty recently in county court by Judge R. A. Sargent of conspiring to defeat the course of justice last October by counselling witnesses to commit perjury at Carra's trial on an impaired driving charge.

Carra and Chapman claimed Richard Devalerola, 16, Carra's nephew, was driving Carra's car at the time of an accident. The perjury was alleged when two teen-age girls testified Carra was the driver.

"Chapman, I look upon you as the ringleader," said Judge Sargent. "You, a lawyer, sank to the level of your client when you not only condoned perjury

Soviet Sub Threat High Warns Pullen

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The growing Soviet submarine fleet constitutes "one of the gravest threats the Western world faces," the flag officer of Canada's Atlantic Command said Tuesday.

Rear-Admiral H. F. Pullen, visiting the United States Atlantic Fleet headquarters, said "if we lose command of the sea we've had it."

He said submarines almost defeated the Allies in both world wars. The Canadian navy—or any small navy—was always faced with the problem of trying to be good at a lot of things or in one special field.

After the war experience, he said, it seems logical for Canada to concentrate on anti-submarine warfare.

Three Killed In 2-Car Crash

ST. OMER, Que. (CP)—Three persons were killed Tuesday night in a two-car collision in this little village on Baie de Chaleur, 300 miles northeast of Quebec.

The victims were identified as Zenon Otis, 45, his son Ghislain Otis, 12, of Charlevoix-sur-Mer, Que., and Gerard Landry, 34, of St. Omer. The cars smashed together on a curve.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to share will receive worthwhile prizes.

The winner who asks the first question answered each day receives a 25-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Judene Wade, aged nine, of Visalia, Calif., for the question:

Why Do Liquids Stay Hot in a Thermos Bottle?

A thermos, when properly stoppered, keeps hot liquids hot and cold liquids cold. It is also called a vacuum flask, which gives us a clue as to how it works. The heat or cold is sealed inside by a thin layer of vacuum. This vacuum is a blanket of almost empty space. The outer metal thermos bottle encloses a silvery glass flask. This flask is really two flasks, one inside the other. The air, or most of it, is removed from the space between them and their rims are sealed together.

The hot or cold liquid is placed inside this double flask. The vacuum between the two walls does the work of keeping the heat in or out. For heat cannot pass through a vacuum. It needs help to travel from place to place. There are three ways in which heat can move from one object to another. And the vacuum flask puts a stop to two and part of the third of these ways.

An object becomes hot when its molecules gain speed. Everything is made of molecules.

The sun warms the earth by sending out waves of heat energy. This energy is absorbed by land and sea. Molecules are speeded up and the earth becomes warm. A vacuum flask is planned to check these three methods by which heat moves from place to place. The vacuum space sealed in the double flask prevents convection. There is no air to warm up and circulate as it does around a radiator. No heat can escape from a hot liquid inside the double flask. Hot soup stays hot. No heat can cross the vacuum barrier to warm a cold drink inside the flask. Cold milk stays cold.

The silvery walls of a vacuum are designed to stop heat by radiation. Those shiny surfaces reflect off heat and light rays. So heat cannot get in or out of the flask either by convection or by radiation.

But it still has another way to travel—by conduction. Some heat by conduction does travel down the inner neck of the flask. But some substances conduct better than others. A silver spoon gets hotter in hot water than a glass rod. Silver is a good conductor of heat. Glass is a poor conductor. And the inner vacuum flask is made of glass. The escape of heat, then, is very slow and we can expect the liquid to stay hot or cold for many hours.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Robert Mullin, 12, Emmerton, Va., for his question:

Where Is the Biggest Deposit of Zinc?

We get zinc from the generous earth. Its ore is mixed with rocks and debris. A 4th of the earth's most bountiful supply of zinc ore is around Joplin, Missouri. The rich zinc deposits reach into three states—Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. There are also deposits in New Jersey, Virginia, Tennessee, Idaho and New York. The United States leads the world in zinc production. Other countries producing zinc are Canada, Germany, Belgium, England, France and Russia.

The lumps of zinc-bearing ore are sent to the smelter, crushed and mixed with burning coals. The zinc rises as vapor. It is condensed into liquid and poured into molds to set in solid form. Zinc may also be removed from its ore by electrolysis.

The refined metal is bluish white and rather soft. It resists rust and is used to coat iron which might be exposed to the weather. Zinc is also used in the manufacture of brass. The compounds of zinc are used to make paints, varnishes, medicines and insecticides.

The lumps of zinc-bearing ore are sent to the smelter, crushed and mixed with burning coals. The zinc rises as vapor. It is condensed into liquid and poured into molds to set in solid form. Zinc may also be removed from its ore by electrolysis.

The refined metal is bluish white and rather soft. It resists rust and is used to coat iron which might be exposed to the weather. Zinc is also used in the manufacture of brass. The compounds of zinc are used to make paints, varnishes, medicines and insecticides.

Where Is the Biggest Deposit of Zinc?

We get zinc from the generous earth. Its ore is mixed with rocks and debris. A 4th of the earth's most bountiful supply of zinc ore is around Joplin, Missouri. The rich zinc deposits reach into three states—Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. There are also deposits in New Jersey, Virginia, Tennessee, Idaho and New York. The Day Christ Died

By JIM BISHOP

3 P.M., APRIL 7, AD 30 (Contd.)

The tomb, to which the body of Jesus had been brought, was not an ornate one. Judged by the standards of those who could afford sepulchres, it was ordinary. It was set in the side of a 12-foot hill facing the Gate of Gennath and, from front to back, measured 15 feet. From floor to ceiling, it was seven feet, and from wall to wall about five.

The Arimathean had built it for himself, with an idea of further enlarging it if any of his children, or their children wanted to share it with him.

There was an atrium, or open forecourt, in front. The entrance was less than five feet high and was closed by a millstone 60 inches in diameter and nine inches thick. The weight of this stone was beyond the strength of one person to move.

It sat in a curved groove and, when two or more men tried to rock it away from the entrance, an extra man had to crouch below with a heavy stone to use as a check. The tendency of the stone was always to roll back into place before the aperture.

Final Entombment

Behind the stone was a vestibule about six feet deep, hewn from limestone. The ceilings and the walls were roughly finished. A thin ledge of rock separated the vestibule from the main sepulchre. The doorway between was about 40 inches high and loved ones always had to bend deeply to enter.

On the right side of the vestibule was a flat slab of stone for the use of visitors who might want to sit. It was on this stone, in cramped quarters, that the three men hurriedly prepared Jesus for final entombment. They lit tapers and stuck them in the walls.

Nicodemus was well versed in these matters and, when the body of Jesus had been laid flat, it was he who placed the downy feather under the nose of the deceased for a specified length of time, which was about 15 minutes. If, in that time, the feather had not moved, the soul had left the body.

The feather did not move. In an inner room of the temple, Annas sat in informal discussion with Caiaphas and the high priests who had seen the Man Jesus die.

Listened to Priests

Annas was old and wise and he listened to the ranking priests as they told, in tones of horror, about the apostolic actions of Joseph and Nicodemus. The old man could hardly have been less moved. The heresies of a few members of the Great Sanhedrin were matters that he had witnessed again and again over a span of years.

What worried Annas was that the faked Jesus had said, in his teachings, that He would rise again in three days. Now that He was dead, there was one more chore to do.

The high priests would have to go to Pontius Pilate in the morning and ask for guards to be posted over the tomb of Joseph of Arimathea so that the scheming Disciples of this Man could not come and steal the body and claim later that He had risen from the dead.

The importance of this was twofold: First, it would have the same effect as having the Romans participate in the original raid on the gethsemane, once they became a part of it, the Romans would have to protect their interests by not permitting anyone to steal the body; secondly, the word of the Romans would have more weight with the people of Jerusalem at this time.

Darkness of Deed

If the priests said that Jesus did not rise from the grave, the thousands of followers of the Galilean would say that the priests were lying to cover the darkness of their deed in having Him crucified; if the Romans said it, the people would believe, understanding that the Gentiles had no interest in the matter one way or the other. Caiaphas praised his father-in-law as a man of great wisdom.

A delegation called on Pilate the following morning, but the Procurator refused to be a party to the scheme, and ordered the high priests to set their own guard over the body. They did this and they sealed the tomb too. When Jesus arose from the dead on Sunday morning, the high priests claimed that the body had been stolen while their guards slept.

Loving hands minister to Jesus for the last time. When all is finished, Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus place the body of the tortured Messiah in the newly hewn tomb. Be sure to read the conclusion of Jim Bishop's "The Day Christ Died" here Thursday.

NOT THE MONEY!
PGA's Methods Irk Tam Golf Promoter

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf promoter George S. May Tuesday may have started a cleavage between tournament sponsors and the PGA tournament committee.

If the gap widens, the whole structure of professional tournament golf may be threatened.

May abandoned plans this summer to hold his $210,000 Tam O'Shanter tournaments after receiving a contract from the PGA not to his liking. He returned the contract and announced cancellation of the Tam tournaments, richest in golf.

Benching Bucyk Against Rangers Backfires on Milt

BOSTON (CP)—Milt Schmidt made a switch Tuesday night that didn't pay off.

His Boston Bruins lost the fourth game of the Stanley Cup semi-final to New York Rangers 5-2, tying the best-of-seven set at 2-2.

The Boston coach benched John Bucyk in the third period and replaced him with Buddy Boone. However, Boone and linemates Bronco Horvath and Vic Stasiuk were all unable to connect.

Rangers' first goal was Dean Prentice's. Andy Bathgate intercepted a pass and dropped the puck to Prentice who fired the 15-footer while Lou Fontinato was in the penalty box.

NULLIFY GOAL
A few minutes later Dave Creighton made it 2-0 on a power play with Bucyk off for kneeing.

Late in the opening period, Horvath sent a shot past New York goalie Lorne Gump Worsley, but the apparent score was nullified by high-sticking penalties to Stasiuk and New York's Jack Evans.

Hustling Jerry Toppazzini got one goal back for Boston in the second period while the Bruins were short-handed, but the Rangers bounced back with a pair of tallies by Andy Heberton and Bathgate.

Toppazzini smashed in the other Boston goal in the third period. Bathgate completed the scoring by firing into an empty net at 19:41 after the Bruins had pulled goalie Don Simmons for a sixth saver.

The Bruins had a wide advantage in territorial play in the final 20 minutes, but were stopped time and time again by Worsley's sparkling net-minding. Worsley came up with 39 saves to 30 for Simmons.

Canucks, Stamps Like To Keep Fans Smiling

Most of the 10,000-odd fans who saw the two opening games in the Western Hockey League playoffs Tuesday night should have gone home happy. The hometown team won in each contest.

Vancouver Canucks, who won the Coast Division with a record-tying 44 victories, didn't let play-off jitter upset their style.

Before 4,700 fans in Vancouver they beat Winnipeg Warriors 4-1 to take a one-game lead in their best-of-seven semi-final with the Prairie Division champions.

There were 5,362 fans in Calgary to see Stampede take a 4-3 decision over Edmonton Flyers in the first game of their best-of-five quarter-final.

McLeod, Maloney Star
Jackie McLeod, one-time New York Rangers, and Phil Maloney, runner-up for the WHL individual scoring championship, made the Vancouver machine percolate.

McLeod scored twice and Maloney once and both continually led a strong attack which refused to be slowed by the hard-hitting Warriors.

Defenceman Brent MacNab collected Vancouver's fourth goal. Rookie sensation Art Stratton tallied for Winnipeg in the first period.

Winnipeg outshot Vancouver but could do little with Marcel Pelletier, who blocked 32 shots. Ray Mikulan, Winnipeg goalie, also performed well, stopping 24.

WILKIE GETS THREE
In Calgary, Murray Wilkie scored a goal in each period to pace Stampede. Enio Scisizzi scored the other Calgary goal. Flyer tallies came from Bill McCreary, Hugh Coffin and Frank Roggevep.

Flyers, who finished the regular schedule in second place on the Prairies 15 points ahead of Stampede, had trouble with goalie Al Rollins. The Stampede netminder made three spectacular saves to thwart Flyers in the first period when they tried to cash in on a one-man advantage.

The clubs battled to 2-2 and 3-3 draws after the first and second periods and it wasn't until the 14:43 mark of the third period that Wilkie got the winner. Sandy Hucul sent a long, screened shot to the corner of the crease and Wilkie deflected it.

Cats' Worst Year One of Ed's Best

Although missing 12 games at the end of the Western Hockey League season because of a suspension handed out by his club, Eddie Dorohoy still topped all Victoria Cougar snipers in the league scoring race.

Dorohoy, WHL scoring king seven years ago, finished up with the highest goal total in his professional career, 34, and added 41 assists for a total of 75 points, good for eighth place in the WHL race.

Seattle's Guyle Fielder took his third WHL crown with 111 points.

In second place among the Cougars was Gordie Wilson, the smooth centre who finished up with 26 goals and 38 assists for a 64-point total, two points in front of Gordie Hayworth.

Fourth was Denny Olson, who had an even 30 goals and 27 assists.

Cougars set five new team records during the season. They lost the most games (50), won the fewest (18), won the fewest at home (12), lost the most games at home (22) and collected the lowest point total (38). Cougar scoring:

Coast Champions Score Impressive Opening Victory
SASKATOON (CP)—Vancouver Ellers and Saskatoon Adelman Aces, co-favorites in the Canadian women's basketball tournament, made impressive debuts Tuesday night as the five-team, round-robin series opened.

Ellers, seeking their ninth consecutive senior title, improved steadily as the game progressed to outclass Calgary Maxwell's, 44-22. Aces, who gave Vancouver a stiff battle on their way to the Canadian crown two years ago, breezed past Kitchener-Waterloo Elliotts, 68-42.

THE SCOREBOARD BY Harry Grayson

MIAMI, Fla. (NEA)—Ted Williams will go into the Hall of Fame as the greatest hitter of this or any other generation, but contemporary clouters disagree with his strict adherence to the strike zone—especially with men on base in a tight game.

Among the dissenters is Stan Musial, who last season won his seventh National League batting championship at 37 while Williams was bagging his fifth American League title at 39.

Williams contends that a batter, regardless of the situation and his capability, should never swing at a pitch that is out of the strike zone, the 17-inch wide area extending from the knees to the armpits.

"Suppose a hitter develops the habit of swinging at balls that are only two inches above, below, outside or inside his normal strike zone," the Boston Bomber always has said. "Instead of having a target of four-and-a-quarter square feet, as in my case, the pitcher has a target measuring five-and-five-sixths square feet, an increase of 37 per cent."

"Give any major league pitcher an advantage like that and he'll make a monkey out of you most of the time."

Williams reiterated this to me while waiting to give a cashing exhibition on a pier back of a Miami department store. The big fellow is as expert with rod and reel as he is with a bat. "No one can build a case for the bad ball hitter," he insisted.

Musial concedes that there is a lot of logic in Williams' position and you most certainly cannot argue with his averages.

"But the big hitter is up there to drive in runs," said Stan the man.

"If I like a pitch, I'm going to hit the ball no matter where it is. I figure that I'm better than the pitcher and I don't like bases on balls. I adjust my hitting to the park. I pulled inside pitches at the Polo Grounds and Ebbets Field, for example, and I probably will do the same thing in the Los Angeles Coliseum."

"Joe Medwick was a notorious bad ball hitter when he led the National League in every department. Yogi Berra is a little more particular about the strike zone now, but he went after bad balls when he became the most dangerous late-inning hitter in the American League."

Vic Wertz, the hard-luck Cleveland slugger who broke an ankle Sunday, also ignores the strike zone at times.

"The count dictates the pressure on the pitcher and the batter, but when it favors me and there are runs to be driven in, I'll hit a ball to my liking that is anywhere around the plate," commented the robust first baseman. "I'm not going to leave those runs for a lesser hitter to drive in. Not if I can get a good piece of the ball."

Henry Aaron hurt the Yankees in the World Series by smacking a pitch in Milwaukee that appeared to be even with the top of his head. Asked about it after the game, he explained, "The ball was where I could hit it. I might not have been so lucky with a breaking pitch in the strike zone."

Joe Dimaggio wasn't too concerned about the strike zone when he could win a game for the Yankees with a base hit.

It goes without saying that there is a tremendous difference between the batter who hits bad balls and one who swings at them thinking they're good.

Jim Hegan and other veteran American League catchers can't recall Williams ever swinging at a bad pitch. This is a tribute to one of the all-time batting eyes and appraisers of the strike zone.

But the fact remains that Williams too frequently and apparently happily settles for a base on balls when the situation cries for an authoritative thump by the Red Sox' big hitter. That leaves the runs-batted-in business to an inferior hitter, for compared with old T.W. all but a handful of hitters are inferior.

This well could be a principal reason why the Red Sox have won just one pennant in the 14 full seasons Ted Williams has been asked to carry the load.

PANCHO PADS LEAD
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—World tennis champion Pancho Gonzales finished the first half of his 100-match tour with Australian challenger Lew Hoad, Tuesday night, with a 27-23 lead as he trimmed Hoad 7-5, 10-8.

FAVORITE CLICS
Vancouver's Hugh Cleland was eliminated by tournament favorite Finn Kobberoff, of Denmark, in the opening round of the United States badminton championships at Boston, Tuesday. Scores were 15-8, 15-5.

Moreno Doesn't Think Kid's Joke Very Funny

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World featherweight champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey played an April Fool's Day joke on his ring counselor—but they liked it just fine today.

"We told him to box—so he knocks the chap out early," said Bassey's manager, George Birdles of England.

The chap was Ricardo (Paja) Moreno of Mexico, who had been hailed as the more vicious puncher.

But it was the champion from Nigeria, who, left ringside mouths agape with his savage third-round annihilation of Moreno Tuesday night.

"I fought the first round exactly as I had planned," Moreno sadly explained later through an interpreter. "After that I could do nothing."

"He hit me hard in the first round, so I slugged back," Bassey admitted with a grin. And the champ from British West Africa continued bombing until Moreno collapsed with just a few seconds left in the third.

WILD BARRAGE

Bassey, 124 pounds, opened the third with a wild-swinging barrage that gave the 20,034 fans who had braved threatening skies for the out-door scrap more than their money's worth.

A solid right sent Moreno, 124½, reeling across the ring.

With the grace of a lion sensing the kill, the pint-sized African moved forward and planted another jarring right to the jaw.

Moreno's mouthpiece bounced to the canvas and he stumbled along the ropes like a rubber-legged derelict. Bassey followed with another right hand smash and Moreno did a drunken shuffle-off dance step and collapsed. He was still on his back, but making a feeble effort to rise, when referee Tommy Hart counted him out.

It was a fine payday for Bassey, who was making his first defense of the 126-pound title since winning the vacant featherweight crown from Cheril Hamia last June in Paris. Bassey collected a guarantee of $70,000 from the Wrigley Field gross gate of $215,047—or almost $3,000 a minute. Moreno was $38,000 richer for his beating.

Curlers' Dream End Was Worth the Wait

Tom Menzies waited a long time, but he finally figured in curling's "dream end."

And the wait may be worth it.

Menzies, skipping a rink consisting of C. W. Forbes, Jim Horner and J. H. Hawes in the Victoria Seniors' League, scored a perfect eight-end Tuesday to become the second city four-some in two weeks to share the Daily Times' prize of $100.

Leading 7-6 playing the final end, the eight-count gave Menzies a 15-6 victory over Harvey Lutz' rink, which also includes Van Buren, Dave Fyvie and Jack Gebriel.

Menzies, who has earned 40 years, has played in all provinces except the Maritimes.

Elmer Hoffman's rink scored an eight-end against Art Paget's quartet two weeks ago.

EILERS KAYO EDMONTON; EASTERN CHAMPS NEXT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Eilers won the western Canada senior A men's basketball title Tuesday night, whipping Edmonton Towne Hallers 78-63 to win the best-of-five final 3-1.

Eilers now meet Tillsonburg, Ont., Livingstones for the Canadian title in a series starting here next Monday.

Eilers were led by spectacular shooting by Peter Mullins and John McLeod. Mullins scored 26 points, 20 in the second half. McLeod scored 21 points, 15 in the first half.

Don MacIntosh led Edmonton with 23 points. Big John Bright was next with 16. As in the three previous games, Hallers were rough and tough, collecting 21 fouls. Steve Mendryk and Don Munro each fouled out.

Senior Ball-Tossers Display Enthusiasm

City baseball players have demonstrated their approval of the four-team senior league being formed by the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association.

A total of 43 players attended the first registration meeting of the senior loop at the Eagles' Home Tuesday night, including a number of experienced senior stars.

Ace at Cedar Hill

Cedar Hill Golf Club will soon be dubbed Victoria's "hole-in-one" course if the rash of aces racked up on its greens continues.

The latest was scored by Doug Cook when he dropped his tee-shot on the 130-yard sixth, using a seven-iron.

Cook was playing in a four-some with Alan Kay, Ernie Weims and Rick Walton.

New High of $1.9 Million For Nanaimo School Costs

NANAIMO (CP)—Nanaimo's share of district school costs this year will be 34.4 per cent and that of the rural area 65.6 per cent, a report from the school board says. The district's estimated school costs are up almost $300,000 above those of last year to an all-time high of $1,902,051. Expenditures last year to the district paid out $830,667 in teacher salaries. Balance of the increased costs—about $50,000—goes for health service fees, conveyance of pupils and other expenses.

'NEARING LIMITS OF ECONOMIC EXPANSION'

Nash Predicts Curtailment On Rural Electrification

QUALICUM BEACH — Curtailment of rural electrification in the province was predicted here Monday by C. W. Nash, director of load development for the B.C. Power Commission.

Mr. Nash told the members of the Qualicum Beach Rotary Club that the commission is nearing the limits of economic expansion under its present mandate. Most low-cost extensions have been completed, he said, and the remaining high-cost extensions may prove too great a burden for the urban areas which the commission serves.

"Our customer density has been thinned to the economic vanishing point," said Mr. Nash. "Ten years ago the average density was 26 customers to the mile; rural extensions have thinned that density to 16."

The road the power commission is traveling has been getting progressively steeper, the commission official said. The extension of service to more than 200 communities in 12 years has been supported solely by the sale of electricity in the more economic urban areas.

"There is a limit to how far business can expand when the margin between unit selling price and the manufacturing cost approaches zero."

In 10 years, said the speaker, the total residential consumption of electricity over the commission system has multiplied 16 times. The average household use has increased by 300 per cent and average cost has been cut in half.

Means that will provide the best service at lowest cost are those which permit of the lowest financing, said Mr. Nash. The Power Act, under which the power commission is set up, was conceived to do just that, said the speaker, and the best route for the province in general is wide application of the Power Act.

NEAR CROFTON PULP MILL

New Plant Blocked By High Power Rate

DUNCAN (CP) — Will Dobson, newly-nominated president of the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce, told city council Tuesday night that excessively high industrial power rates demanded by the B.C. Power Commission are keeping a $10,000,000 industry away from Crofton.

"The chemical manufacturing company interested in this area would employ from 150 to 200 men," Mr. Dobson said, adding that it would manufacture chemicals which would be sold to the neighboring Crofton pulp mill of B.C. Forest Products.

Mr. Dobson said that four other pulp mills besides the Crofton mill could be supplied with chemicals. The new plant would be built on 40 acres immediately south of the Crofton mill.

HALF RATE

"B.C. Electric has offered to supply power at half the rate asked by the commission, but the plant would be located in territory allocated to the commission," Mr. Dobson said.

"It seems impossible to get any clear statement of policy from the commission," Mr. Dobson said.

"One possible answer would be for the power commission to act as a broker for B.C. Electric power, which the commission has said it is willing to do."

However the B.C. Electric would charge the commission twice the rate which it pays when purchasing power from the commission.

The question will be discussed at a meeting called by the commission to be held at Nanaimo April 28.

Attending will be delegates from boards of trade, chambers of commerce and municipal corporations.

Sewer Estimates Submitted To Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP)—Cost estimates of construction of the Greater Nanaimo sewerage system have been given to city council but have not been released yet, it was learned today.

City council and engineers will study them before drawing up the proposed money bylaw for presentation this month.

TIME OUT RUNS OUT

NANAIMO (CP)—The old post office clock here, unused for five years, will once again look down over the city.

Msgr. A. G. Baker says he will buy the old clock for the nominal charge of $1 and put it in the 85-foot steeple of the new Roman Catholic Church.

Vancouver Tax Increase Certain Council Told

From CP Dispatch
VANCOUVER — An increase in city taxes in Vancouver this year is "inevitable," Alderman George Miller, deputy chairman of the city board of administration said Tuesday night.

Alderman Miller told city council the rate could go up by as much as three mills "in spite of our efforts to hold the line."

His comments came during debate on a grant to the city centennial committee. Council was about to grant $100,000 for celebrations, but, decided, to defer the vote until today.

Increases in expenditure this year include $1,500,000 more for wages and a record $22,000,000 school budget as well as higher police costs.

The budget will come before council in two weeks' time.

AIRPORT EXPANSION
ABBOTSFORD—When extension is completed the airport here will be able to take the largest airliners in service and relieve traffic, or take over traffic from Vancouver's international airport, 48 miles west.

The department of transport took over the airport Tuesday, but buildings housing Hungarian refugees will continue to be used by the immigration department. The improvement program includes lengthening of one of the field's three 5,100-foot runways to 7,000 feet, and the remaining length strengthened and levelled.

BODY FOUND

MAPLE RIDGE—The body of Karl Kleebauer, 72, was found Tuesday about 300 yards from the Aliso infirmary from which he had been missing since Saturday afternoon.

Police said Neil Agle, an orderly at the infirmary, found the aged man's body on a little-used trail leading to the Alouette River. His head was lying on a rock and it is believed he may have fallen and struck his head. Mr. Kleebauer could walk only with the aid of crutches.

THEORY NONSENSE

VANCOUVER — A University of British Columbia scientist Tuesday described American reports of an "atomic ray" defence against Russian nuclear attacks as "irresponsible nonsense."

Dr. F. A. Kaempfer, associate professor of physics, was referring to a report from Washington that nuclear tests in the Pacific this year may produce the "atomic ray" defence against Russia's inter-continental missile.

FBI Chief Charges Movie Crime Trend

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is there too much crime in movies?

The question arose last week when FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover appealed to the film industry to soft-pedal films glorifying crime. Hoover wrote Eric Johnston, head of the movie producers:

"As a law enforcement officer, I am deeply concerned by an apparent trend in the motion picture field . . . the matter relates to motion pictures which traverse the bounds of common decency and result in the glorification of the gangster and his elevation as a false idol for American youth . . ."

ONLY TWO OTHERS

The "trend" was caused by the amazing success of the Mickey Rooney film, Baby Face Nelson. But the producers' association says only two films are scheduled to follow in Nelson's bloody footsteps.

One is Machine-Gun Kelly, now completed. The other is The Bonnie Parker Story, in production. Both come from an independent company. There has been talk of films on Pretty Boy Floyd and others, but none has materialized.

A spokesman for the production code office told me what is being done about crime pictures.

"We can't stop the making of films about crime," he said. "The code revisions of a year ago did away with many restrictions on such matters as kidnapping, dope, tommy guns, etc."

"What we can do is prohibit the sympathetic portrayal of criminals and we are strict about that. Also, we can try to limit excessive brutality."

Stratford Actors Score in N.Y.

NEW YORK — Canada's Stratford Festival Company made its second New York presentation Tuesday night with "The Broken Jug," a European farce comedy adapted to the War of 1812. The American reviewers fight back, but concede that the performers do "a rattling good" job.

The Ontario company, which opened at the off-Broadway Phoenix Theatre last month to mixed reviews for Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona," draws acting plaudits from critics of the New York Times and Herald Tribune and The Associated Press. But the play itself, adapted by Donald Harron from a German comedy by Heinrich von Kleist, is rated on the frothy side.

Brooks Atkinson of The Times calls it "low-pressure entertainment" but says of the cast "these are rattling good actors all the way through."

"Douglas Campbell, an old hand with a low gag, is in his most cheerful mood," says Atkinson, and is "in congenial company" with Helen Burns as "a catervauling virago." Eric Berry as an officious though bewildered officer, Douglas Rain as a "salvaging, mischievous clerk" of the court.

ENDS TONIGHT "WHO DONE IT?"
A J. Arthur Rank comedy, introducing the aptly named Benny Hill, a new British comic and master of mimicry, an idol on English TV and radio. Also featuring Brenda Lee and David Kosoff. A laugh a minute in this crazy comedy—wherever he goes, chaos follows. Written by Tibby Clarke, who also wrote Passport to Pinetop. Lavender Hill Mob, etc.

'Mutton Chop' or 'Van Dyke', Beards Are Bore to Barbers

By TONY DICKASON

The centennial year boom in beards is alternately blessed and blasted by Victoria barbers.

An on-the-face-of-it survey today disclosed the city's tonsorial types believe beards are a barber's bore but must be tolerated because there's money in them.

One 30-year veteran of barbering looks at it this way: "Some bearded men are getting smart—they're shaving them off."

These are the ones who are disappointed in rate, type or color of growth, or others who have finished competing in beard-growing contests.

But beard removal projects also bother the barbers. How much to charge?

Said one barber: "We charge $1 for a shave, and 50 cents more for removing a beard."

"But I think it should be $5."

The barbers' union hasn't laid down any price policy. Some shops are displaying signs advising a $3 whisker removal charge.

Beard trims are 75c or $1, depending on the barber. One establishment carried its 75-cent beard-trim price visible on the wall for more than 20 years. "but they started coming in asking for trims only two or three weeks ago."

Neophyte beard growers don't know much about their new-acquisition, barbers state. They often come in asking for a trim, and there's not enough there to insert even a wire curler!

"Most haven't enough to style," said a European hair specialist, waving his hands in a gesture of hopelessness.

Beard styles vary. There's the mutton chop, Van Dyke, King George, full beard, and the type Elvis Presley's sideburns might have become if extended further.

Most popular is the aristocratic King George, a beard that's cut close down the sides and comes to a point.

Rugged individualists aren't frequenting barbers. They prefer to let their beard grow "wild," which is perhaps the reason sensitive little children weep when daddy comes home.

One chap who had his beard removed, protested vehemently in the barber's chair that his wife was responsible. He works in a bar.

"The darn whiskers started to stink of beer, and cigarettes. It was more than she could stand," he said.

Others can't take the teasing.

The average beard sprouts one-quarter inch a month and grows to six or seven inches in length.

In an advanced state, a little mustache wax helps keep the thing identifiable from a rambling blackberry bush.

There is no product to speed growth, and nothing that removes the initial itch except cold or hot water.

Whether this is an indictment of beards or not is moot—but all barbers interviewed were clean-shaven!

MONTE ROBERTS

Do you suppose it is possible the dishandment of our Save Ripple Rock Association was premature?

Is it possible that, after three years of unflagging effort to Save Ripple Rock, we gave up too soon?

On March 17 you may remember, we conceded defeat. The destruction of Ripple Rock seemed inevitable, and, sobbing softly in our beard, we threw up our hands in despair.

But now comes a letter from "A.L.D.", Myrtle Avenue, which has persuaded me to attempt to revive the association.

"A.L.D." to say the least, takes a dim view of the Ripple Rock explosion. He writes:

"I guess you will call me a pessimist. We don't have to wait many more days to learn if the coming explosion of Ripple Rock will be a success—or disaster."

"The construction officials expect the vibrations to reach many miles, which is likely to bring down slides and what have you."

"If this explosion should crack the earth's surface in any way and the sea rolls in you are likely to have a repetition of the volcanic explosion of Krakatau in 1883. People in England thought the end of the world was coming, as the moon was red for days, and the sun obscured."

"I remember it quite well, and a recurrence due to the Ripple Rock blast is, I suppose, quite possible, but not probable."

Well, A.L.D., from the tone of your letter I would say the Save Ripple Rock Association should never have disbanded. The Association maintained, from the outset, that blowing up the Rock would be like pulling the plug in a bathtub, and all the ocean water would run out.

This is bad enough, but now A.L.D. warns us that the moon will be red, the sun obscured, and the sky will be falling.

Let us get the Association going again.

Remember, only two more days to Save Ripple Rock.

BOATING QUEEN

Two weeks a wife and now a queen is Mrs. Stanley Pollard, of 429 Vancouver. The 25-year-old beauty, the former Geraldine Skinner, was elected queen of Victoria Outboard Club Tuesday night. Oil Companies Hike Premium Gas Prices

1/2 to 1-Cent Increases

Victoria motorists joined the rest of the country to pay more for gasoline today as distributors raised prices between 1/2 and 1 cent per gallon.

Four major gasoline wholesalers here raised premium gasoline prices from 1/2 to 7/10 of a cent per gallon to service stations.

With one firm's chain of outlets the average price for premium gasoline is around 46.5 cents a gallon and about 41.5 for regular gasoline.

With some wholesalers there was no increase on the standard grades of gasoline, and with two firms there is no change as yet in either whole-sale or retail prices.

Price changes across the country were announced in Toronto by three major oil firms, but one leading firm said it would make no change because its price was already in line with the increases made by the others.

Increased manufacturing costs were cited by one firm as the reason for increases.

BREEZING ALONG WITH A GALE IS EARLY APRIL THEME SONG

The second day of April blustered in on winds up to 64 miles an hour, making a cool 46-degree-day seem even cooler, the weather office reported.

Winds this morning were southeast at 35-51 miles an hour with gusts at 11 a.m. to 64 under cloudy skies.

The forecast is for continued mostly cloudy today and Thursday, winds about 35 and gusty, dropping to 15 miles an hour tonight, showers overnight and little temperature change.

Aldermen Fumble Shop Hours Bylaw

City council today gave final passage to a bylaw permitting stores to remain open any weekday evening preceding a statutory holiday.

Aldermen thought they were approving only a regulation to permit store opening on Thursday nights, when Thursday precedes a statutory holiday.

The mistake wasn't noticed until the bylaw had already had three readings.

In order to ensure stores could remain open until 9 p.m. this Thursday, and because there was no time for amendment, the bylaw was passed anyway—over the objection of at least two city firms.

Mayor Percy Scurrell described it as "an honest mistake." Various aldermen signified their intention to ask a Thursday-only amendment in the near future.

The error was brought out by a letter to council from Standard Furniture. The firm stated it "strongly protested" the bylaw until there was opportunity for full discussion between council and the merchants.

A similar letter from men's clothes Price and Smith Ltd. also asked for delay.

The bylaw resulted from a letter to council last week from Victoria Six-Day Shopping Committee. It asked stores be allowed to open to 9 p.m. on Thursdays preceding holidays. Council endorsed a resolution to that effect last week and ordered a bylaw prepared.

The bylaw was prepared by city solicitor T. P. O'Grady in consultation with Mayor Percy Scurrell.

Mayor Scurrell explained following the meeting today: "I think Mr. O'Grady thought it would be advisable (to exempt stores from 6 p.m. closure on all nights preceding statutory holidays.)"

"He thought that was the intention of council. There was no thought of not carrying out council instruction."

"That was also my understanding. He came to talk to me about it. I think it was an honest misunderstanding. If council doesn't like it, we can change it or amend it when the whole matter of store hours comes up for study."

Council held an earlier special meeting Monday to give first three readings to the bylaw.

There was dismay expressed by several aldermen when the Standard Furniture letter revealed the true content of the bylaw this morning.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. E. D. McEwen, Ald. Austin Curtis, Ald. Hugh Ramsay and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson each stated they believed they were passing a bylaw permitting Thursday night opening only.

Ald. McEwen pointed out the bylaw as it stands will mean store employees would be required to work until 9 p.m. on the Monday night preceding Dominion Day and on New Year's Eve (a Wednesday), although most other holidays fall on a Monday.

"This is permissive legislation only," said Mayor Scurrell. "Stores don't have to stay open. Don't worry too much about the employees. They are protected by law to working a maximum 44 hours."

DOESN'T WANT TO BE KING

Nigerian Prince Prefers Medicine

By DINAH KERR

A Nigerian prince who does not want to be king is in Victoria today to promote the moral rearmament film, "Freedom," which will be given its B.C. premiere at the Odeon Theatre, April 14 and 15.

Dr. Adeyemi Ademola, 38, is son of the Alake (King) of Abeokuta, H.H. Sir Ladapo Ademola II.

But he would rather remain public health doctor in Lagos, the capital of Nigeria, than rule almost 1,000,000 subjects.

The colony now is torn by local loyalties and divergent ideologies, he said.

The old customs which moulded our life are breaking down and many new ideas are coming in.

This breakdown has led to "irresponsible living" and "a way of dishonesty," he said, in both public and private life.

"We must create eternal values again. Unless Nigeria is re-built on a moral basis, trouble is around the corner for us."

Dr. Ademola graduated from Durham University and undertook post-graduate studies in London. He practised in London before returning to his native country.

The film, part of it set in his native country,

Finishing For Exhibition

At a meeting of Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild, Mrs. I. Bell spoke on correct finishing of woven articles. She stressed that no machine stitching must show on articles entered for exhibition.

Samples woven by Miss F. Daniels showing hemstitching, knot fringe, Brooks bouquet finish, pairing stitch, rolled hems, crochet edging, tassels and fine bobbin lace illustrated Mrs. Bell's talk.

Washing of wools and steam pressing was discussed. A bolt of sulking, woven by Mrs. H. Hodson, showing a "partial shave" finish was passed for inspection.

Mrs. S. Pickles reported on exhibition plans and Mrs. H. C. Hartshorne gave summaries of new weaving magazines.

Mrs. G. Anstey presided and welcomed two new members, Mrs. M. Higgins and Mrs. Dora B. Cross.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Are You a Color Sissy? Get Out of 'One Color' Rut

Experimentation with color can take years off a woman's age and will also add much pleasure to the selection and use of her wardrobe.

Women are apt to be color sissies. Many women feel that they can wear only one or two colors. Of course it is true that there is usually one which is especially flattering to each woman but most women can wear many colors or a variation of many.

For instance, there are many different children in the brown family; dark brown, warm light brown, beige, tan, mustard and rust. Some of these may not suit you but one or more may be most flattering. There is a terrific range in the blues and greys. The yellows range all the way from the very soft yellows to orange.

Black is universally chic but many authorities (and many psychologists) feel that women wear too much of it. Unless black is worn with a flair or is dramatized, it is likely to be nondescript or aging.

The dark shades make you look older because they grow shadows on your face while the lighter ones (especially white) reflect the light in a flattering way, decreasing shadows and minimizing lines. To prove this to yourself, put on a black dress. Stand in front of a mirror. Now hold a white towel up in front of you and notice the difference.

Don't get into a rut with black, brown and blue! You need variety. A change makes you feel younger and actually can be relaxing and stimulating. Perhaps you need a blue dress to be relaxed in, a red one in which to be gay, a black one to feel sophisticated in, a grey one for calm days and a purple one to be sad in.

Most of us cannot take it that far but I do feel that color has a real influence on our moods. The impact of color is such a well recognized fact that it is even used in the decor of hospitals and schools.

Have fun with color in your wardrobe! It makes you more interesting to your friends so that they see red, green, blue or black when they think of you.

Mrs. Earl Scharf, the bride-elect's mother, and Mrs. C. R. Harding, the groom-elect's mother, received similar corsages of blue hyacinths. Miss Scharf received a leaf-shaped relish dish from the guests. A buffet supper was served. Invited were Mrs. T. Lancelley, Mrs. W. S. Wellwood, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. H. Powell, Mrs. L. Mark, Mrs. J. EVERY INCH A QUEEN

To Ottawa Then Paris

Being wife of Canada's defence minister means Mrs. George Pearkes leads a busier and more demanding life than most women, but it's an interesting life, too.

Next week she'll travel to Paris with her husband, who must make the trip for business reasons. The Pearkes expect to spend two weeks on the Continent and in England, and during that time Mrs. Pearkes is hoping to see the Black Forest in Germany. This will be her second trip abroad in recent months.

Mrs. Pearkes left Victoria this morning to fly to Ottawa with her husband who is wasting no time in "getting back to the job" now the election is over.

Interviewed at her Tattersall Drive home, Tuesday, Mrs. Pearkes looked refreshed, despite election strain.

As for Mr. Pearkes, she said, "Oh, he's feeling fine. You know, he can outpace a lot of younger men. However, I know that at such time as he feels the strain is too much for him, he will step aside for someone else."

Asked what she thinks about election results, Mrs. Pearkes answered, "I don't think the government will be too top heavy. I'm sure the success won't go to Mr. Diefenbaker's head. He's much too modest and conscientious."

Mrs. Pearkes is not certain when she'll be able to return to Victoria, but she hopes to be here May 24, to attend a garden party being given on the lawns of her home by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), of which she is honorary president.

Mrs. George Pearkes was sorry to leave the beautiful garden of her Tattersall Drive home, as spring flowers are at their height of color just now. She is pictured with the family pet, "Punch."

Assisting the hostess as serviteurs were cousins of Miss Harrison, Misses Evelyn and Barbara Gill.

Dorcas Whittaker, Peter Gardner Married in Victoria West Church

Of wide interest in Victoria is the wedding, Tuesday evening, of Miss Dorcas Lila Whittaker, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lance H. Whittaker, Edward Street, and Peter Richard Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gardner, Doncaster Drive.

Trellises with yellow daffodils decorated Victoria West United Church for the ceremony, conducted by Dr. N. L. Hughes.

Wearing a floor-length gown of white satin brocade, the attractive bride was given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and long lily point sleeves. Her veil swept gracefully to the floor and was held in place by dainty tiara. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and small Marguerite daisies.

The "Marriage Hymn" was sung during the signing of the register by a trio, including Misses Margaret, Wendy and Tina Meulblok.

Sisters of the bride, Miss Valerie Whittaker and Miss Laura Whittaker were bridesmaids wearing ballerina-length gowns of net in pink and yellow respectively. Bridesmaids in matching net were worn, and they carried bouquets of pink sweetheart roses and violets.

A turquoise frock was worn by flower girl Weedy Snyder,

Treat Family to Lamb at Easter Braised in Continental Manner

In many countries of the world, lamb is the traditional meat for the Easter feast. But rather than prepare it in the stereotyped manner, for this special occasion or for any of the fine spring Sunday dinners coming up, try a new way — patterned after methods used in France, Belgium and Italy. These countries of the European continent cook lamb roasts in a tremendous earthenware casserole or copper pot. It is braised rather than roasted, with herbs and other savory flavoring ingredients that penetrate the meat and add to the delicious sauce which forms during the cooking. Home economists have adapted this way of cooking to the use of aluminum foil, which is easier to use and does away with the need of a large pot or heavy kettle. Browning the meat is done under the broiler and the roast finished, snugly wrapped in the foil.

Just before serving, the foil is folded back to make a silvery serving platter, spring vegetables added and voila! — a picture-perfect piece of resistance for the Easter dinner.

Leg of Lamb, Continental Style
Leg of lamb, heavy duty aluminum foil, 1 clove garlic, 1 whole clove, melted butter or olive oil, salt and freshly ground pepper, if available, 1 small onion, a few sprigs rosemary, ½-cup dry red wine or ¼-cup bland canned fruit juice, potato balls, cooked; small, whole carrots, cooked.

Place the leg of lamb on a large sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil and place a shallow pan underneath. Fold the foil around the meat loosely, so that it may be handled easily. Rub the meat with the cloves of garlic, cut so juice of garlic is rubbed into the meat. Stick garlic with a clove and leave in foil. Now brush meat with melted butter, or olive oil then sprinkle with salt and freshly-ground pepper, if available. Cut a small onion in quarters and place in foil and add also, some sprigs of rosemary.

BROWN LIGHTLY
Place under the broiler and brown the meat lightly on all sides. Slide the lamb out of the oven on the rack and pour over the wine or fruit juice. Take the ends of the folded foil on the long sides of the lamb and bring up over the meat, overlapping about three inches, close the foil at either end and turn it up, so juices cannot run out. For this recipe, it is not necessary to make a very tight seal.

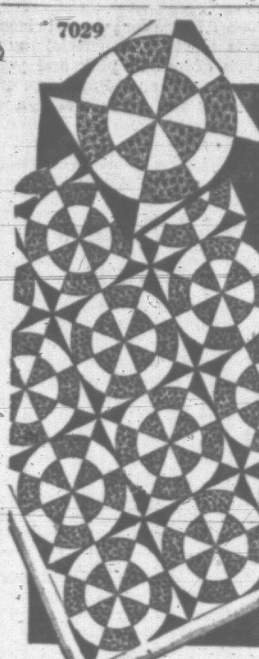

Push the lamb back into the oven and set thermostat for 375 degrees Fahrenheit. Roast a 6 to 7-pound leg of lamb for two and a half hours. At the end of this time, open the foil and baste the lamb with drippings and remove garlic juice in the foil. Add small, cooked new potatoes or potato balls, tiny cooked carrots, basting these also. Return to oven for just a few minutes to glaze vegetables.

Serve right in silver foil serving dish.
Make a quick and easy tartar sauce for fish suppers. Stir 2 teaspoons instant minced onion into a tablespoon of water. Let stand a few minutes, then add to mayonnaise along with a generous measure of chopped parsley, sweet or sour pickle relish and a squeeze of fresh lime or lemon juice.

The bride has chosen Mrs. Pauline Callan, Miss Mary-Lou Waters and Miss Marilyn Birtwistle as attendants. Best man will be Mr. Ron Starkey, and ushers Mr. Keith Williams and Mr. Mike Dyer. Stuff Cabbage with Beef, Rice For Food Favorite of Near East

A food favorite in Near Eastern countries is the "Dolma" or stuffed cabbage leaf. Cabbage leaves are spread with a seasoned rice and meat mixture and then rolled up. They are simmered in a sauce, usually a tomato one, until tender. Mint or all-spice are favorite seasonings.

In this recipe a ground beef-rolls stuffing is used and the rolls are cooked in tomato sauce. And—cheese is added to the sauce to make it just short of sensational, flavor-wise!

Yes, an easy main dish and a family favorite. The tender green cabbage rolled around browned beef, rice and onions is laced with a savory cheese-tomato sauce.

INGREDIENTS
One tablespoon cooking fat, ½-cup uncooked white rice, 1 lb. ground beef, ½-cup chopped onion, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼-teaspoon chili powder, 1 large head cabbage, juice of 1 lemon, 2½ cups boiling water, 2 8-oz. cans tomato soup, ¼ lb. processed cheese spread.

Method: Melt fat in a skillet. Add the rice, ground beef and onions. Cook, stirring occasionally, until the beef is browned and the rice begins to turn yellow. Stir in the salt and chili powder.

While the rice and beef cook, remove 12 leaves from cabbage. If necessary to prevent tearing leaves, dip head in boiling water. Cook the leaves in hot water several minutes or until partially tender. Drain.

Before stuffing each leaf, cut stiff ridge away from back. Do not split leaf. Place ¼-cup of the rice-meat mixture toward stiff end of each leaf. Begin to roll folding in the sides. Cut up some of remaining head of cabbage. Place in the bottom of a large soup-kettle or Dutch oven. Arrange cabbage rolls in kettle with folds down. Pour lemon juice, boiling water and tomato sauce over the cabbage rolls. Cover and simmer about 1 to 1½ hours or until the cabbage is tender.

While the rolls cook, cut the cheese into tiny pieces. When the rolls are tender, remove from the sauce and place on a hot-platter. Stir some of sauce into cheese. Return to kettle. Heat over a very low heat until the cheese melts. Serve the sauce over the cabbage rolls. This recipe makes 6 to 7 servings.

Heirloom Brooch Worn By Bride Agnes Amos

A diamond heirloom brooch for "something old" was worn by bride Miss Agnes, Sheila Amos at her wedding in St. John's Anglican Church recently.

Her groom is Ivore Joseph Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Turner of Lockwood, Sask. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Amos of Sidney. Canon T. W. Scott performed the ceremony.

Baskets of white plum blossom and pink tulips decorated the church.

Frederick Chubb played traditional organ music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of cotton lace. The sleeves were three-quarter-length and she wore matching mitts. A chapel-length veil misted from her pearl and sequin studded headdress. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and white hyacinths.

Pink tulle dresses in afternoon length were worn by attendants Miss Marlene Hurst, maid of honor, and Miss Joan Butler, bridesmaid. They had matching headbands and carried bouquets of pink and white marguerites.

Little Brenda Amos, niece of the bride, was flower girl wearing a white nylon dress. Her bouquet and head wreath were of pink marguerites.

Best man was Eric Graham, Vancouver, and ushers were Craig Massie and Alan Pearce.

Victoria Curling Club was scene of a reception following the ceremony. The bridal table was centred with a three-tier cake topped with roses and doves.

R. R. Wilde proposed the toast.

A navy blue chemise dress topped with a pale blue coat was worn by the new Mrs. Turner.

BRIDESMAID BACKS OUT

My mother, my fiancé's mother and my bridal attendants arranged a date to shop for dresses for my wedding. When we finished, one of the girls suggested that we all lunch together and all agreed. It was also agreed that we go Dutch treat. When the lunch check came, my fiancé's mother wanted to pay for it, but we reminded her of the agreement. Afterwards, one of the bridesmaids said to me, "If you can't afford to pay for the lunch, I can't afford to be in the wedding party." So she stepped out in a huff. Should my mother or I have paid for the lunch?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS

No. There is a difference between lunch and a luncheon, and what you were doing was not a luncheon. It was an impromptu gathering for it was time to eat and with such an intimate group it was quite proper and understandable that you all agree to go Dutch. There had been no pre-arrangement and it shouldn't necessarily have occurred to you of your mother that you should entertain with an after-shopping luncheon. When the check came, no one was embarrassed, for it had been decided that each pay for her own. You are well rid of this girl who backed out. She was rude, crude, thoughtless and illogical.

Sleep Is Best Knitter of Worries and Woes

A sound basis for beauty at any age is one that's both free and indispensable: regular sleep. To achieve this is not easy in our speeded-up age. Whether she's homemaker or career woman or both, a woman frequently finds herself short on sleep.

This is a condition that's physically uncomfortable and tearing to the nerves. There's just one cure for it: rest. Vitamins and beauty aids, however helpful, will not make up for the damage caused by a lack of sleep.

And, of course, the amount of sleep needed varies from person to person. The person who gets along nicely on six hours' sleep cannot understand why anyone should need eight or even 10 hours. But many people do, if they are to function efficiently and enjoy life.

When you find yourself cheating on proper rest, call a halt and make up for the lack.

Spring is here and with it those white touches in fashions that look so fresh and pretty,

And there's the catch. To be pretty, those snowy collars, edgings and scarves must be snowy. After one wearing, they must be sudsed clean and pressed. This isn't always an easy routine to follow, particularly when you're tired. But there are ways to make it easy.

The first is to buy extra colors when you buy the dress or suit. The second is to plan your wearing of the dress so that you can allow plenty of time for the clean-up operation.

That is, when you buy the dress, acknowledge to yourself that you intend it for dressy wear and keep it for just exactly that. Don't weaken and decide that you'll wear it to the office just one day.

MATERIAL LIST

COMPLETE INSTRUCTIONS

This plan embodies all the advantages of fir plywood construction and is excellent for fishing on bays, lakes, or streams. It is relatively fast and holds four people comfortably.

It is sturdy with 3/4" marine grade Douglas fir plywood planking on sides and bottom. Yet it is easy to build as planking with plywood means a single panel forms each side with two panels covering the bottom.

As the initial step in preparing to build this plywood boat, make a thorough study of the plans, noting carefully the construction details of each station, and reviewing the materials listed in the fir plywood and lumber order.

Obtain the required plywood, lumber and other materials from your local retail lumber dealer.

In ordering plywood, be sure to specify Douglas fir plywood which has completely waterproof bond for all outdoor and marine applications.

Princess Pats' Wives Barraged From Voting

Some 150 soldiers' wives were hopping mad election day when they were disenfranchised by the Elections Act.

From the commanding officer's spouse down, wives of personnel in the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, were prevented from voting Monday by a blind spot in the act.

"It was infuriating," said one wife who preferred to remain unidentified. "We voted in Germany in last year's election but because we came back to Canada, we were not allowed to vote although our husbands still could."

She said that the deputy returning officer informed her and other wives that because they had not been in Canada for 12 consecutive months—no vote.

"Voting among soldiers and their wives is arranged through the military under the act," hastily replied Esquimalt-Saanich returning officer S. S. Penny when informed of the females' ire.

"It's true," said Lt. Col. Thomas de Faye, the battalion's commanding officer. "The wives of all the men who returned from Germany last fall were not allowed to vote, including my own wife."

Under the Act, citizens have to be in the country at least 12 months before an election in order to vote.

When the Act was passed, Canada had no troops abroad. In the interval, military formations have been posted overseas so that special arrangements were made for them to vote while out of the country.

These special arrangements were extended to cover their wives.

In order to get around the 12 months' residence qualification here, more special arrangements were made for the armed services personnel when they returned.

But this time, through some slip up, they were not extended to cover the wives.

"So, in effect, the soldiers' wives have been disenfranchised by a technicality of the Act," Col. de Faye said. "We had to publish the fact in the unit's orders and the men were told their wives could not vote."

Thunderbirds are favored to retain the cup. In the first two games played at Berkeley, Calif., the U.S. team took the first 8-6 and UBC the second 17-9.

UBC has a six-point lead in the scoring, providing it is left to the better average to decide a winner. This occurs if each team wins two games. Otherwise, it is the best-of-four series.

General manager Frank (Trader) Lane of Cleveland Indians says the majors' spring training program is "too long and too expensive."

Lane thinks the average spring training costs of $1,500 to $1,800 a day are ruinously expensive for major league clubs.

Bowing in as the Tribes' front office chief this season, Lane said "baseball is making a farce out of spring training by spreading it over a seven-to-nine-week period. We could and should cut spring training budgets in half by having a one-month camp."

The one-time general manager of Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Cardinals added spring training could "lead to the most harmful factor of them all—a weary ball club in July and August when a definite benefit is to be gained from sharpness."

It predicted that in 20 years, the area around Craigflower Peninsula will be the centre of a densely populated area and a park in the district would be an asset.

Craigflower Peninsula, it pointed out, is within easy reach of the city. The lack of currents and its protected position also made the waters exceptionally safe for small boats of all kinds.

Private funeral services will be held Saturday at Hayward's, and will be followed by cremation.

Survey Vessel To Send 'Word' On Ripple Blast

CGS Parry to Check Impact of Explosion

Following the anticipated destruction of Ripple Rock Saturday, attention will centre on the hydrographic survey vessel Parry, which will check the full impact of the explosion.

The Parry will start an echosounding survey to make sure the twin peaks of the undersea mountain in Seymour Narrows have been reduced by the 40 feet expected.

Aboard the vessel will be district engineer R. B. Young of the hydrographic service here and a crew of surveyors.

Their report will be the first indication of the success of the explosion.

Following the echo-sounding survey, two launches will drag a submerged line over the site to decide whether any isolated pinnacles of rock remain.

Other survey parties will later attempt to establish the change in the hitherto dangerous rips and eddies of Seymour Narrows.

At present, one of the twin peaks of the rock is only nine feet below the surface of the water at low tide, and the other is 20 feet under water.

Among laymen, interest centres in what will happen when the 1,375 tons of high explosive in "Ripple Rock," 10 miles north of Campbell River, are detonated Saturday morning.

To date no one knows because there have been no explosions similar to the Ripple Rock project, but Harold P. Wilson, retired banker living at 631 Harbinger, saw a blast of possibly half its power.

"When I was in Prince Rupert in about 1910, contractors for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Foley Bros., Welch, & Stewart, had to remove a mound of rock on the waterfront to make room for a spur," he said.

"They tunneled the mound, just as they have done at Ripple Rock, and Italian powdermen working for the firm laid a charge of 1,000 tons of black powder with dynamite scattered through it.

"The powdermen did a good job. The blast was 100 per cent successful, all the rock was blown into the harbor, and not one of the hundreds of spectators was injured. And most of us were within 300 yards of the blast."

TWICE AS BIG
"Considering that the Nitramex 2H in Ripple Rock is more powerful than black powder, I'd guess that the Ripple Rock charge is twice as big as the one I saw."

"As I recall, the blast was most spectacular, but there was no discomfort. My guess would be that the precautions being taken at Ripple Rock will be more than sufficient."

Mighty as the Up-Island blast will be, it is not expected to rattle teacups in Victoria.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, said the amount of energy released will be small compared to an earthquake, and likely will be dissipated in the 150 miles between here and the rock.

"It is also highly unlikely that it will be heard here," he said. It will take the earth tremor about 18 seconds to reach Victoria, and the sound wave, if it arrives, about 12 1/2 minutes.

W. G. Milne, chief seismologist at the observatory, and three assistants already are at Campbell River to make preparations to record the blast.

Work crews have completed a large header-house to be attached to a greenhouse now under construction. The cost of this project will be about $75,000.

A nursery of native trees has also been established on the site situated on seven acres of land on Burnside and the Trans-Canada Highway, near the Rowlands Heights residential subdivision.

R. R. Lejeune, officer in charge of forest biology here, said the greenhouse will be in use early this summer, and it is hoped to start a laboratory building soon after.

John D. Draws Plaudits From Press in Britain

LONDON (CP)—The re-election of the Progressive Conservative government by the big majority in Canada's history is seen in Britain as a personal triumph for Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Several British newspapers predict he may become the dominating personality in the Commonwealth. One of the most enthusiastic appraisals of the Canadian statesman's stature comes from Don Iddon, New York correspondent for the right-wing Daily Mail, who has been in Canada covering the election. Says Iddon:

"Today he emerges as perhaps the most inspiring and dynamic leader in the British Commonwealth, or the Western world for that matter. Certainly he is fitter and more vigorous than Eisenhower, more dynamic than Macmillan, more magnetic and a good deal younger (62) than Menzies."

The Evening Standard describes Diefenbaker as "the most secure prime minister in the Commonwealth."

Almost without exception, British editorial writers refer to the election as "Diefenbaker's Canadian triumph," and the Liberal paper, Manchester Guardian says flatly that "it is indeed, Mr. Diefenbaker, not his party, who has been victorious."

"The other Conservative ministers are almost insignificant at present compared with their leader," says the Guardian, "and it is his fervent preaching of a vivid Canadian nationalism which has excited the electorate in a way that Mr. Pearson's carefully reasoned appeals could not."

PARIS (Reuters)—Paris evening newspapers gave front-page play to the Progressive Conservative victory in the Canadian elections.

L'Information and the Roman Catholic La Croix quote Ottawa observers as saying the voters' choice was for a harder policy toward the United States.

FRANKFURT, Germany (Reuters)—The right-of-centre newspaper Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung says in an editorial that the great loser in the Canadian election was Lester B. Pearson. It adds:

"Foreign policy did not play the slightest part in the election, otherwise the Canadians would not have shoved aside Lester Pearson, the internationally recognized diplomat, as brusquely as they have done."

"Pearson now intends to lead the Opposition. But is this diplomat also born to be a good Opposition leader? From the start the Canadian election was a duel, in which Diefenbaker was the better tactician and the tougher opponent. Although he was government chief, he conducted the election campaign in the style of a leader of the Opposition."

CAPETOWN (CP)—Commenting on the Conservative sweep in Canada's general election, the Cape Times says unemployment and economic hardship had much to do with the result.

But, the newspaper adds, part of the explanation must be that "as in other democracies, people get tired sooner or later of seeing the same old party returned to power." For this reason, it would be unwise for the Conservatives to think they are perfectly secure.

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—The Sydney Morning Herald says the landslide Conservative vote in Canada's election gives Prime Minister Diefenbaker every chance to fulfill his wish—to reduce Canadian dependence on the United States.

"This is a most striking vote of confidence in the prime minister."

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The Progressive Conservative landslide in the Canadian election means re-establishment of the two-party system for many years to come, the South China Morning Post says.

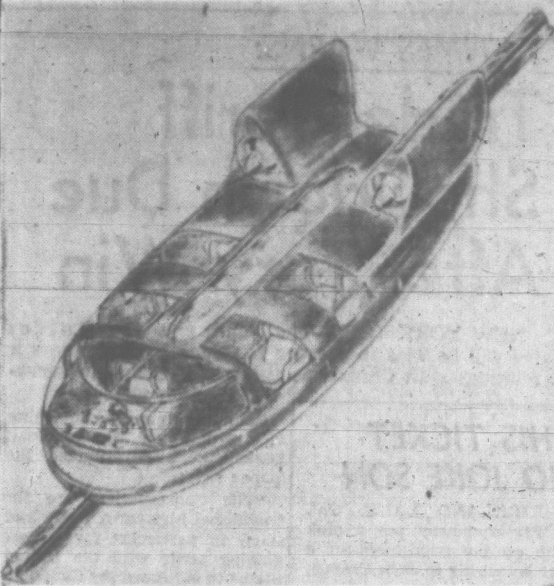

The newspaper says in an editorial it must take a long time for the CCF and Social Credit parties to recover the ground they lost Monday.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—Indonesian government troops have invaded the Central Celebes in their second major offensive this week against revolting opponents of President Sukarno's policy of "guided democracy."

Army headquarters here said the Jakarta troops stormed ashore from a landing craft on the west coast of the island and captured the towns of Palu and Donggala.

Lt. Col. Rudy Pirngadie, army information chief, said fighting was still going on for control of Gorontalo, a major town in the northern branch of the Celebes.

Government troops had seized the town, he said, but were forced out again by a rebel counter-attack.

NO COMMENT BY ST. LAURENT

TORONTO (CP)—Former prime minister St. Laurent heard of the Liberal party's crushing defeat Monday night while vacationing at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., but he made no comment.

A Canadian Press reporter, telephoning from Toronto, was able to reach Mr. St. Laurent's son, Renault.

The son asked for the election results so he could pass them along to his father. He said his father would not comment immediately.

Canada's GNP Up Last Year

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada's gross national product in 1957 was $31.1 billion, a gain of 3½% over the preceding year but unchanged in terms of physical volume of output, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The report noted a moderation of the rapid expansion of investment outlays which was a notable feature of 1955 and 1956.

The 1957 gross national product compares to $29.9 in 1956.

"Machinery and equipment investment declined in the last three quarters of the year and the rate of growth in non-residential outlays slackened," the bureau said.

It added, however, that residential construction began to move upward during the year, following a period of successive declines.

"Accompanying these developments, exports of goods and services which had earlier provided one of the main stimulants to investment in source industries, moved irregularly at a level barely in excess of the year 1956," it said.

A slackening of the upsurge in imports which occurred during 1956 was noted last year.

Israeli-Syrian Conflict Eased

CAIRO (AP)—The situation on the Israeli-Syrian border was easier today after a day without fighting. But Israel made plain that she intends to go ahead with the Lake Huleh reclamation project, raising the possibility of new clashes.

Mahmoud Fawzi, foreign minister of the United Arab Republic, was to leave for Switzerland today to talk with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of the United Nations about the fighting Sunday and Monday on the border, Hammarskjöld, now visiting London, plans to fly to Switzerland Thursday.

The UAR has accused Israel of aggression in the Huleh truce area and warned that Arab forces would not stand idly by while Israel attacked Syria. Israel claimed that Syrian troops opened fire first on the Israeli workers.

The two forces traded tank and artillery shots for several hours Sunday and Monday, with a few casualties admitted by each side.

Israel is trying to build a drainage canal to control flood waters from Syria's section of the Jeleibneh Valley. Israel claims the waters often flood lands skirting Lake Huleh which were reclaimed by a drainage project completed last fall.

The Arabs oppose any work on the project for fear it would give Israel a firmer foothold in a sector claimed by Syria.

HOTELMEN WON'T SAY HOW MANY OUNCES

Jumbo Beer Glasses Here

King-size beer glasses went into general use Tuesday in Victoria beer parlors.

Introduction of the glasses ends months of uncertainty among hotelkeepers here, who were waiting to see how the 20-cent "doubles" made out in Vancouver where they replaced the regular 7½-ounce size in January.

A spokesman for the Hotel and Innkeepers' Society of B.C. said the big glasses were "almost exactly double" the standard 7½-ounce size but would not reveal how many ounces they hold.

"There have been no complaints about them in Vancouver," he said. "They were very well received by customers."

The new glasses save time in serving—they are parcelled out one at a time—and cut the amount of "spillage" occurring each day in beer parlors.

B.C. Liquor Board sanction of the new glasses carried with it the stipulation that beer parlors must also keep the standard glasses on hand to serve those who want them.

STRICKEN U.S. CARRIER LIMPS TOWARD AZORES

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. aircraft carrier Corregidor suffered a crack in her hull in heavy seas in the Atlantic Tuesday night. She took in some water but was reported in no immediate danger of sinking.

The carrier was limping today toward the Azores for emergency repairs. Aboard were 20 officers and 150 crew members.

Trade, Tariff Showdown Due After Tory Win

NEW YORK (CP)—The Times says the United States will be wise to prepare for some readjustments in its relations with Canada as the result of the Conservative election victory.

THIS TICKET NO JOKE SON

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Somebody put a pink slip on the windshield of a car belonging to Jack Crouch, a photographer.

The slip, which looked like a parking ticket, said "April Fool." A policeman came by, looked at it, laughed—and put a real one on.

Mixed-Bloods To Cast Vote For Whites

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—More than 29,000 mixed-blood male voters in Cape Province cast ballots Thursday to elect four white representatives to the South African House of Assembly (lower house).

It is the first time in South Africa's history that mixed-bloods are voting on separate rolls. Previously, registered mixed-blood voters voted on a common roll with the white electorate.

They were placed on a separate roll by the national government last year. Women do not qualify for a vote.

WATER ROUTE

Lake Champlain, providing passage from the St. Lawrence to the Hudson River, was discovered by Samuel Champlain in 1609.

Commenting on the smashing victory of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's government, the paper says:

"The Conservatives are the traditional high-tariff party and stand in particular for a bargaining tariff with the United States to cut down the Canadian trade deficit . . . that reached one billion dollars last year. Also, Prime Minister Diefenbaker leads his party in emphasizing Canada's membership in the British Commonwealth and seeks to shift a good part of Canada's trade to Britain."

NOT ANTI-AMERICAN

Noting that the Conservatives plan steps to place Canadian and American investors on a more equal footing in foreign-controlled business, The Times comments:

"These proposals are not born of anti-American sentiments but are tokens of a new stirring in a progressively self-conscious Canada, proud of its growth and anxious to spread its wings."

ONE CERTAIN THING

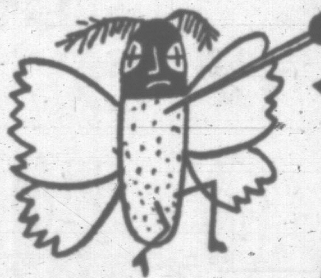

The Daily News says one thing seems certain

"Namely, that Canadians want ordinary, conventional government for a while. We deduce this from the fact that a couple of screwball parties which have long had considerable influence in Western Canada were all but blown out into the Pacific Ocean by the voters. Which, if you ask us, was small loss to Canada."

The Mirror finds the election result a "victory for reason."

The Mirror devoted most of its editorial to an attack on L. B. Pearson, describing him as a "nationalistic chauvinist" who had been "building an anti-American attitude in Canada, which is apparently as little understood and favored in his country as it is in this."

VICTORIA OPINION POLL

Large Majority Against Forced Retirement at 65

By BEN CROW

Western Surveys-Research Ltd. People should be allowed to continue working after age 65 if they want to, are able, and are still useful.

That's the majority opinion in Greater Victoria, as indicated by a poll of 100 representative citizens. Seventy-three were against forced retirement at 65.

They backed up their opinion with comments like this:

"Let them work as long as they want to";

"Let them work until they prove incompetent";

"Men at that age are quite capable";

"Skilled workers are hard to replace";

"It makes people unhappy if their livelihood is taken away";

"Some people reach their peak at 65";

"It takes away something to do";

"Give better service for the money";

There were some qualified answers:

"If they need the money";

"If they are able and wish to do so and employer wants them";

"In prosperous times, yes";

"but they could teach younger people instead";

"If they aren't displacing younger people."

The minority favoring forced retirement at 65 felt it would make room for younger people and help eliminate unemployment, that people of that age should be looked after by a compulsory pension plan, or that "Nobody needs to work with the new machines."

A few people even suggested that retirement be compulsory at an earlier age: at 60, or after 25 years with one company.

This was the question:

"Do you think all working people should be forced to retire at the age of 65, or should they be allowed to continue working if they wish and are able?"

Forced to retire. 24

Continue working if wish 73

EATON'S Open Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Easter Display of Bibles

In honour of the Centennial Easter, EATON'S proudly present a display of Bibles and religious books. Some date back to the 17th century... some are beautifully bound and well-preserved... some have survived a precarious existence, are battered and discoloured—but nevertheless looked upon with pride as family heirlooms. One of the most interesting and educational displays ever offered by EATON'S—one which will appeal to the Easter spirit in all. See them now, in Windows 1 to 5.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(From Times News Services)

LONDON—Queen Elizabeth Tuesday night drank a 40th birthday toast to the Royal Air Force at Fighter Command headquarters in suburban Stanmore.

She was attending the RAF anniversary dinner with the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and other members of the royal family.

The Queen said the RAF had "blazed the air trails across the Atlantic, through Africa and Asia to Singapore and beyond — the nucleus of that vast network of air highways that are now traversed daily by the airways of the world."

The Battle of Britain in 1940 — the RAF's "weeks of courage which have become an epic" — had taken its place with Trafalgar and Waterloo among the decisive battles of history.

LONDON — British philosopher Bertrand Russell, leader of a campaign against nuclear weapons, today ended a verbal duel with John Foster Dulles and Nikita Khrushchev by calling them "rival fanatics."

He was writing in the left-wing weekly review "New Statesmen" which in recent months has published wordy letters from the philosopher, the U.S. secretary of state and the Russian leader.

LOS ANGELES — Actors Robert Mitchum, John Carroll and the father of singer Sammy Davis Jr. today were among defence witnesses subpoenaed for the trial of ex-mobster Mickey Cohen on charges of hitting a waiter.

Troops, Police Guard Visiting Khrushchev

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP)—A triumphantly smiling Nikita Khrushchev arrived today in Budapest and pledged that Russia's ties with Hungary "can never be destroyed."

It was Khrushchev's first appearance abroad since he took over the Soviet premiership. It also was the international diplomatic debut of his new first deputy, Frol Kozlov, traveling with him.

Thousands of troops and police formed a security cordon on the ground as Khrushchev left the plane first, smiling and waving jauntily to the cheering Communists who greeted him from behind a three-deep barrier of militia guards.

"The West has tried in vain to disturb peaceful relations between Hungary and the Soviet Union," Khrushchev told the crowd.

"However, the close ties between our two countries can never be destroyed. We do not have to fear the enemy if we continue our unity."

Then they drove off to Central Budapest, 10 miles away. Police closed the road for 20 minutes after the motorcade swept away from the airport. Police and troops stood at intervals of 20 yards along the highway and all crossroads were blocked off with other guards.

At the airport, Hungarian Communist leader Janos Kadar responded to Khrushchev's short speech.

"Hungary will never forget that Soviet troops liberated our country," Kadar said.

Britain's Dollar Reserves Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's gold and dollar reserves rose by $231,000,000 during March and stood at $2,770,000,000 at the end of the month, the treasury announced today. Last month's increase, which compared with an increase of $135,800,000 in February, makes the sixth consecutive month in which there has been a good gain.

The reserves — barometer of Britain's financial health — now stand at their highest since November, 1954, when they totalled $2,925,000,000.

WIRE BRIEFS

Tito to Visit Poland
WARSAW (Reuters) — Yugoslav President Tito will lead a Yugoslav party-government delegation to Poland in late spring, the Polish press agency Pap announced tonight. Wladyslaw Gomulka, the Polish Communist party leader, visited Yugoslavia last September.

Family of 9 Evicted

TORONTO (CP) — A family of nine was evicted from their home today by sheriff's officers. Mrs. James Stewart and her seven children were removed from the semi-detached brick house by five sheriff's officials. Neighbors said one child was left on the street wearing only pyjama tops.

Leftist Landslide

Pearson Under Fire By Hearst Tabloid

NEW YORK (BUP) — The New York Daily Mirror made a bitter editorial attack today on Canada's defeated candidate for prime minister, Lester B. Pearson.

The Hearst tabloid demanded that the Senate Internal Security Committee at last release the full text of its investigation of the suicide last year in Egypt of Canadian minister Herbert Norman "who had been accused of unwarranted relations with Communists."

The Mirror added "it is said the report contains data unfavorable to Pearson and has been held up at the request of the state department lest the U.S. be accused of influencing a Canadian election . . . when it is printed let nothing be deleted. The American people have a right to know what influences have been at work separating these nations that have lived in peaceful co-operation for more than a century." Commenting on Pearson's defeat, the Mirror said — "The Canadian election not only was a defeat for Lester Pearson, who for years has been a baiter for the U.S., but it was a positive vote for reason . . . Lester Pearson built a political career as a national chauvinist disturbing the relations between the two countries to such a degree that many Americans wondered why the Canadians were turning upon us and how it would benefit Canada to be neutral in the conflict between Russia and the United States . . ."

Duncan Youth, Shot in Eye, Recovering

Sixteen-year-old Ronald Seymour, of the Quamichan Indian Reserve near Duncan, who was shot accidentally Monday night, was reported in "good" condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

He was seriously injured about the eye and head when a rifle discharged while being examined by himself and a group of friends during an outing on Salt Spring Island.

His friends took him by canoe to Cherry Point. From there he was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan before being brought to Victoria.

Magistrate Named

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner appointed Lorne H. Jackson, 62, a former Assize Court prosecutor, to the permanent post of deputy police magistrate. The post has been filled for almost a year by temporary appointments.

ARGUE AS CCF LEADER?

All that stands in the way of the two-party federal system that Canada left in 1921 are eight CCF members, remnants of the 25-member group that sat in the last Parliament.

They are without a House leader at the moment, 69-year-old M. J. Coldwell having been personally defeated in Saskatchewan's Rosetown-Biggar, along with another national party leader, Social Credit's 58-year-old Solon Low in Peace River, Alta.

Hazen Argue, Assiniboia, party whip last session, is considered a likely caucus choice for CCF House leader.

With the Liberals not holding a single seat in the three Prairie provinces, and the CCF's representation in that region confined to Assiniboia, Mr. Argue finds himself in the unique predicament of being the lone opposition voice for Canada's bread-basket.

The new parliament will be unusual in another respect. While the Conservatives have a giant majority in the Commons, the Liberals hold sway similarly in the Senate with 77 members compared with 17 Conservatives, two Independents and one Independent Liberal. There are only five Senate vacancies.

This could give rise to some delicate situations, especially on any controversial legislation. During the last short session, when the Conservatives ruled with a minority Commons representation, the Liberal senators co-operated fully in facilitating the passage of legislation — mostly non-controversial.

CHANCE FOR CANCER PATIENTS

Coin Rules on Drug Use

CHICAGO (AP) — The flip of a coin is deciding some cancer patients' chances for longer life.

The coin decides whether they will or won't be given anti-cancer drugs at the time of cancer surgery. The drugs are aimed at killing escaping cancer cells which could start new cancers elsewhere in the body later.

Some people can be given the drugs, others not.

Flipping a coin is one of the best ways of statistically choosing a random sample.

Dr. Warren H. Cole, surgeon-in-chief of the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital, described the cancer experiments to science writers making an American Cancer Society tour of leading research centres.

Surgeons have been concerned that they cannot get all of a cancer or that malignant cells can be spread by the operation. Stray cancer cells have been found in veins leading from wounds. If there are too many, the body's natural defences may be overwhelmed.

Bullish Resistance Feature at Toronto

The Toronto market was having trouble deciding which way to go today in quiet mid-afternoon trading. The trend was to the lower side but the bears met some bullish resistance, giving the market a mixed to lower pattern. Index changes were small, none exceeding much more than a quarter of a point. At New York aircrafts kept an edge to the upside as the market moved unevenly in slow trading in the late afternoon. Losses for the year were touched by Chrysler and Westinghouse Electric. Chrysler showed a loss of more than a point in late dealings. Westinghouse was down about 2. Rubbers and rails were generally lower.

AT-TORONTO industrial gains were slightly outnumbered by losses. Refining oils and pipelines having an 8-to-1 edge on the downside. But most changes were fractional and volumes on individual stocks light. Senior base metals were mixed to lower. Uranium, copper pers and junior base metals were narrowly lower. Western oils had three losses for each gain but none were more than 15 cents and most were less than 10 cents. Senior issues were quiet and mixed.

AT NEW YORK Aluminum Ltd. lost 1/4, and Distillers-Seagrams and Dome Mines 1/4 each. International Nickel gained 1/4. Fargo Oil gained 3/16 and Canadian Marconi 1/4 in the Canadian section of the American exchange. Brazilian Traction and Preston East Dome each lost 1/4.

AT MONTREAL prices were evenly mixed in a fractional range in moderate trading today on the stock exchange.

Reflecting the mixed trend were the utilities. Calgary Power gained 1/4 to 69 1/2 and Braz 1/4 to 6 1/2. Power at 39 1/2 both lost 1/4.

Steels, constructions and banks were firmer as Steel of Canada gained 1/4 to 53 1/2, Canada Cement moved up 1/4 to 28 1/2 and Bank of Montreal improved 1/4 to 41 1/2.

Refining oils, pipelines and base metals were lower.

AT LONDON the stock market posted selective gains today, with gilt-edged securities again leading the way.

Canadian dollar stocks continued Tuesday's advance but other trans-Atlantic issues declined following the overnight drop on Wall Street.

Industrials were firm on selective buying. Oil, South African gold and copper shares were mixed to lower.

AT VANCOUVER: trading was quiet with little price change during the forenoon. Craigmont lost 10.300 at $2.40. Bethlehem Copper moved 2.00 at $1. Silver Ridge traded 2.00 at $1. Vantor moved 3.100 at $1.20.

'Mutton Chop' or 'Van Dyke', Beards Are Bore to Barbers

By TONY DICKASON

The centennial year boom in beards is alternately blessed and blasted by Victoria barbers.

An on-the-face-of-it survey today disclosed the city's tonsorial types believe beards are a barber's bore but must be tolerated because there's money in them.

One 30-year veteran of barbering looks at it this way: "Some bearded men are getting smart—they're shaving them off."

These are the ones who are disappointed in rate, type or color of growth, or others who have finished competing in beard-growing contests.

But beard removal projects also bother the barbers. How much to charge?

Said one barber: "We charge $1 for a shave, and 50 cents more for removing a beard."

"But I think it should be $5."

The barbers' union hasn't laid down any price policy. Some shops are displaying signs advising a $3 whisker removal charge.

Beard trims are 75c or $1, depending on the barber. One establishment carried its 75-cent beard-trim price visible on the wall for more than 20 years. "but they started coming in asking for trims only two or three weeks ago."

Neophyte beard growers don't know much about their new acquisition, barbers state. They often come in asking for a trim, and there's not enough there to insert, even a wire curler!

"Most haven't enough to style," said a European hair specialist, waving his hands in a gesture of hopelessness.

Beard styles vary. There's the mutton chop, Van Dyke, King George, full beard, and the type Elvis Presley's sideburns might have become if extended further.

Most popular is the aristocratic King George, a beard that's cut close down the sides and comes to a point.

Rugged individualists aren't frequenting barbers. They prefer to let their beard grow "wild," which is perhaps the reason sensitive little children weep when daddy comes home.

One chap who had his beard removed, protested vehemently in the barber's chair that his wife was responsible. He works in a bar.

"The darn whiskers started to stink of beer, and cigarettes. It was more than she could stand," he said.

Others can't take the teasing. The average beard sprouts one-quarter inch a month and grows to six or seven inches in length.

In an advanced state, a little mustache wax helps keep the thing identifiable from a rambling blackberry bush.

There is no product to speed growth, and nothing that removes the initial itch except cold or hot water.

Whether this is an indictment of beards or not is moot—but all barbers interviewed were clean-shaven!

MONTE ROBERTS

Do you suppose it is possible the disbandment of our Save Ripple Rock Association was premature?

Is it possible that, after three years of unflagging effort to Save Ripple Rock, we gave up too soon?

On March 17, you may remember, we conceded defeat. The destruction of Ripple Rock seemed inevitable, and, sobbing softly in our beard, we threw up our hands in despair. But now comes a letter from "A.L.D.", Myrtle Avenue, which has persuaded me to attempt to revive the association. "A.L.D.", to say the least, takes a dim view of the Ripple Rock explosion. He writes:

"I guess you will call me a pessimist. We don't have to wait many more days to learn if the coming explosion of Ripple Rock will be a success—or disaster."

"The construction officials expect the vibrations to reach many miles, which is likely to bring down slides and what have you."

"If this explosion should crack the earth's surface in any way and the sea rolls in you are likely to have a repetition of the volcanic explosion of Krakatau in 1883. People in England thought the end of the world was coming, as the moon was red for days, and the sun obscured."

"I remember it quite well, and a recurrence due to the Ripple Rock blast is, I suppose, quite possible, but not probable."

Well, A.L.D., from the tone of your letter I would say the Save Ripple Rock Association should never have disbanded.

The Association maintained, from the outset, that blowing up the Rock would be like pulling the plug in a bathtub, and all the ocean water would run out.

This is bad enough, but now A.L.D. warns us that the moon will be red, the sun obscured, and the sky will be falling.

Let us get the Association going again.

Remember, only two more days to Save Ripple Rock.

Oil Companies Hike Premium Gas Prices

1/2 to 1-Cent Increases

Victoria motorists joined the rest of the country to pay more for gasoline today as distributors raised prices between 1/2 and 1 cent per gallon.

Four major gasoline wholesalers here raised premium gasoline prices from 1/2 to 7/10 of a cent per gallon to service stations.

With one firm's chain of outlets the average price for premium gasoline is around 46.5 cents a gallon and about 41.5 for regular gasoline.

With some wholesalers there was no increase on the standard grades of gasoline, and with two firms there is no change as yet in either whole-sale or retail prices.

INCREASED BEFORE
Some manufacturers increased the price of their premium grades some time ago when higher octane ratings were brought out.

Price changes across the country were announced in Toronto by three major oil firms, but one leading firm said it would make no change because its price was already in line with the increases made by the others.

Increased manufacturing costs were cited by one firm as the reason for increases.

Navy to Bring Scouts to City For Presentation

Boy Scouts from all parts of B.C. and the Yukon will be in Victoria April 10 to attend the annual Queen Scout presentation ceremony.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross, B.C. Scout patron, will present certificates to 139 Scouts who have earned at least four of scouting's public service badges.

Mainland Scouts will travel to Victoria aboard the navy's HMCS Sussexvale and HMCS New Waterford April 9.

The boys will spend three days in Victoria attending banquets, sight-seeing, swimming and visiting brother Scouts.

Mainland Scouts will return Friday afternoon aboard the navy ships.

Election Figures Final for Saanich

Standing off other candidates follows: Noel Bell, Social Credit, 1,328; Ernest Knott, Labor Progressive, 298; George Preston, Liberal, 3,152; and Dr. J. M. Thom, as, CCF, 4,721.

BREEZING ALONG WITH A GALE IS EARLY APRIL THEME SONG

The second day of April blustered in on winds up to 64 miles an hour, making a cool 46-degree-day seem even cooler, the weather office reported.

Winds this morning were southeast at 35-51 miles an hour with gusts at 11 a.m. to 64 under cloudy skies.

The forecast is for continued mostly cloudy today and Thursday, winds about 35 and gusty, dropping to 15 miles an hour tonight, showers overnight and little temperature change.

Aldermen Fumble Shop Hours Bylaw

City council today gave final passage to a bylaw permitting stores to remain open any weekday evening preceding a statutory holiday.

Aldermen thought they were approving only a regulation to permit store opening on Thursday nights, when Thursday precedes a statutory holiday.

The mistake wasn't noticed until the bylaw had already had three readings.

In order to ensure stores could remain open until 9 p.m. this Thursday, and because there was no time for amendment, the bylaw was passed anyway—over the objection of at least two city firms.

Mayor Percy Scurrell described it as "... an honest mistake." Various aldermen signified their intention to ask a Thursday-only amendment in the near future.

The error was brought out by a letter to council from Standard Furniture. The firm stated it "strongly protested" the bylaw until there was opportunity for full discussion between council and the merchants.

A similar letter from men's clothing store Price and Smith Ltd. also asked for delay.

The by-law resulted from a letter to council last week from Victoria Six-Day Shopping Committee. It asked stores be allowed to open to 9 p.m. on Thursdays preceding holidays. Council endorsed a resolution to that effect last week and ordered a bylaw prepared.

The bylaw was prepared by city solicitor T. P. O'Grady in consultation with Mayor Percy Scurrell.

Mayor Scurrell explained following the meeting today:

"I think Mr. O'Grady thought it would be advisable (to exempt stores from 6 p.m. closure on all nights preceding statutory holidays.)"

"He thought that was the intention of council. There was no thought of not carrying out council instruction."

"That was also my understanding. He came to talk to me about it. I think it was an honest misunderstanding. If council doesn't like it, we can change it or amend it when the whole matter of store hours comes up for study."

Council held an earlier special meeting Monday to give first three readings to the bylaw.

DISMAYED

There was dismay expressed by several aldermen when the Standard Furniture letter revealed the true content of the bylaw this morning.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. E. D. McEwen, Ald. Austin Curtis, Ald. Hugh Ramsay and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson each stated they believed they were passing a bylaw permitting Thursday night opening only.

Ald. McEwen pointed out the bylaw as it stands will mean store employees would be required to work until 9 p.m. on the Monday night preceding Dominion Day and on New Year's Eve (a Wednesday), although most other holidays fall on a Monday.

"This is permissive legislation only," said Mayor Scurrell. "Stores don't have to stay open. Don't worry too much about the employees. They are protected by law to working a maximum 44 hours."

DOESN'T WANT TO BE KING

Nigerian Prince Prefers Medicine

By DINAH KERR

A Nigerian prince who does not want to be king is in Victoria today to promote the moral rearmament film, "Freedom," which will be given its B.C. premiere at the Odeon Theatre, April 14 and 15.

Dr. Ademola, 38, is son of the Alake (King) of Abeokuta, H.H. Sir Ladapo Ademola II.

But he would rather remain public health doctor in Lagos, the capital of Nigeria, than rule almost 1,000,000 subjects.

SATISFIED

"I'm not particularly interested in the throne," the doctor said today at the Empress Hotel, "and I don't feel I have been trained for it. What I am doing as a medical person satisfies me."

The successor to his father, now aged 85, will be chosen by a group of "king-makers," he said, from three ruling houses of Abeokuta, the western region of Nigeria.

Dr. Ademola, a bachelor, will speak at the first showing of "Freedom" at the Odeon, April 14, at 8.15 p.m.

There will be three complete showings the following day. The film, part of it set in his father's palace, has a cast of 10,000 Africans, among them prominent political leaders and businessmen.

It traced the British colony's "coming of age" and movement towards independence as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Dr. Ademola is convinced that only Moral Re-armament, a Christian movement dedicated to absolute honesty, purity, unselfishness and love, can lead Nigeria along the right path to freedom.

The colony now is torn by local loyalties and divergent ideologies, he said.

The old customs which molded our life are breaking down and many new ideas are coming in."

This breakdown has led to "irresponsible living" and "a wave of dishonesty," he said, in both public and private life.

"We must create eternal values again. Unless Nigeria is re-built on a moral basis, trouble is around the corner for us."

Dr. Ademola graduated from Durham University and undertook post-graduate studies in London. He practised in London before returning to his native country.

Licensed For Flying By Instrument

WELLAND, Ont. (CP) — A Fenwick housewife who said she was once terrified to go up in an airplane now is fully qualified for her licence to pilot a plane purely by instruments — a class 1 rating that is called "flying blind."

The licence held by Mrs. Dorothy Rungeing is required of all commercial pilots, but she is believed the first Canadian woman pilot to acquire it. Until recently, it has been held by only a few among private pilots.

Mrs. Rungeing took up flying in 1948 after a ride at the Welland Flying Club.

"I was terrified of planes, though I had never been near one," she recalled. "It took the combined cajolery of my husband and son to persuade me to go up for a ride."

Since then, she has clocked up at least 1,600 hours solo flying. And she has just bought her fifth plane, a new Bonanza Beechcraft with 180-mile-an-hour speed range. She said she hopes to race in it this year.

In previous years, she has won the Governor-General's Trophy and has been placed in the women's international air race.

Finishing For Exhibition

At a meeting of Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild, Mrs. I. Bell spoke on correct finishing of woven articles. She stressed that no machine stitching must show on articles entered for exhibition.

Samples woven by Miss F. Daniels showing hemstitching, knot fringe, Brooks bouquet finish, pairing stitch, rolled hems, 'crochet edging, tassels and fine bobbin lace illustrated Mrs. Bell's talk.

Washing of wools and steam pressing was discussed. A bolt of suiting, woven by Mrs. H. Hodson, showing a "partial shave" finish was passed for inspection.

Mrs. S. Pickles reported on exhibition plans and Mrs. H. C. Hartshorne gave summaries of new weaving magazines.

Mrs. G. Anstey presided and welcomed two new members, Mrs. M. Higgins and Mrs. Dora B. Cross.

Four members of more than 50 years service were honored at a district deputy president's night held recently by Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1, IOOF. They were Mrs. Alice Gonnason, Mrs. Mary Stelly, Mrs. Florence Scandling and Miss Lily Savory.

Bouquets were presented to Mrs. May Taylor, Mrs. Scandling, Mrs. Gonnason, Mrs. Ethel McLagan and Mrs. Margaret Gardiner, all of whom held district deputy president office between 1909 and 1926.

Chairman for the evening was Mrs. Mildred Mackenzie, current district deputy president. She was presented with a corsage by Mrs. Helen Loate.

Miss Alice Waddell was soloist and Mrs. Margaret Gover, the pianist. Visitors included J. Hampton, Terrace, B.C.; Jack MacDonald, Vancouver, and Mrs. Betty Lewis, Macleod, Alta. Convener was Mrs. L. Sneddon.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Are You a Color Sissy? Get Out of 'One Color' Rut

Experimentation with color can take years off a woman's age and will also add much pleasure to the selection and use of her wardrobe.

Women are apt to be color sissies. Many women feel that they can wear only one or two colors. Of course it is true that there is usually one which is especially flattering to each woman but most women can wear many colors or a variation of many.

For instance, there are many different children in the brown family; dark brown, warm light brown, beige, tan, mustard and rust. Some of these may not suit you but one or more may be most flattering. There is a terrific range in the blues and greys. The yellows range all the way from the very soft yellows to orange.

Black is universally chic but many authorities (and many psychologists) feel that women wear too much of it. Unless black is worn with a flatter or is dramatized, it is likely to be nondescript or aging.

The dark shades make you look older because they grow shadows on your face while the lighter ones (especially white) reflect the light in a flattering way, decreasing shadows and minimizing lines. To prove this to yourself, put on a black dress. Stand in front of a mirror. Now hold a white towel up in front of you and notice the difference.

Don't get into a rut with black, brown and blue! You need variety. A change makes you feel younger and actually can be relaxing and stimulating. Perhaps you need a blue dress to be relaxed in, a red one in which to be gay, a black one to feel sophisticated in, a grey one for calm days and a purple one to be sad in.

Most of us cannot take it that far but I do feel that color has a real influence on our moods. The impact of color is such a well recognized fact that it is even used in the decor of hospitals and schools.

Have fun with color in your wardrobe! It makes you more interesting to your friends not to be typed in their minds so that they see red, green, blue or black when they think of you.

Castro Demand

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban Communist Party threw its weight today behind rebel leader Fidel Castro's demand for a general strike to overthrow the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

Communists issued a manifesto saying they were joining with "all Cubans to end tyranny."

Earlier, reports claimed that Cuba's second largest city, Santiago, was virtually isolated from the rest of the island today by opening blows of rebel leader Fidel Castro's long-promised "all out" effort to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista.

Rumors spread that Castro might call his long-threatened strike Thursday night.

Tattle Power Lines

HALIFAX (CP)—A spring snowstorm moved in on the southern Maritimes today and knocked out power lines and communications in many districts.

Motorists plowed through slush-covered highways. Traffic was snarled.

Winds gusting up to 70 miles an hour toppled poles and snapped wires laden with snow.

The Nova Scotia south shore between Halifax and Yarmouth was hardest hit. Nearly 80,000 persons in the area were cut off by communication failures.

The town of Bridgewater, 65 miles southwest of Halifax, was isolated when telephone and telegraph lines went down.

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain arrived off Halifax as the storm struck. The skipper of the 25,000-ton ship elected to wait outside the harbor for the gale to subside.

New Civilian
Space Agency
Planned by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to create a new civilian agency to run the U.S. space-exploration program.

His request was in a special message to Congress.

One aim of the defence reorganization plan, Eisenhower said, is to strengthen the authority of the defence secretary in military strategy matters.

Eisenhower told Congress the new space agency would absorb the national advisory committee for aeronautics and would be responsible "for an imaginative and well-conceived program."

ERROR FOUND

Liberal Labor MP
Re-Elected

FORT FRANÇOIS (CP)—William M. Benidickson was re-elected Liberal-Labor member of parliament for the northwest riding of Kenora-Rainy River today after it was discovered his Progressive Conservative opponent had been mistakenly credited with 40 extra votes.

Conservative candidate John A. Robertson said a recount will be requested.

Returning officer W. J. Gray said today he had credited Mr. Robertson with the 40 extra votes on the basis of a telephone call from one of the outlying polling areas. When the written report was received from the polling station the mistake was discovered.

Mr. Gray said the correct figures now show Mr. Benidickson with 11,564 votes and Mr. Robertson with 11,508. Andre Wells, CCF candidate who conceded early in the race, had 3,477 votes.

Three of the riding's 220 polls were still to be reported. But the 44 eligible voters in them could not erase Mr. Benidickson's 56-vote lead.

However, Mr. Gray said there are still an estimated 200 overseas military votes to be considered in the final tabulation. These are to be announced April 5.

Secret Talks

LONDON (UP)—UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld told the West and Soviet Russia bluntly today that secret negotiations through diplomatic channels are their only hope of breaking the present disarmament deadlock.

He did so in an address to members of both Houses of the British parliament under the auspices of the British group of the inter-parliamentary union.

Hammarskjöld has been spending four days here at the invitation of the British government. He has had two formal meetings—including one lasting nearly two hours this morning—with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd on means of breaking the East-West deadlock on disarmament and a summit meeting.

Railroad Trainmen
Ask 25% Wage Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today announced it has called on the major railways for a 25-per-cent general wage increase and other contract concessions.

Brotherhood officials said the new demands would apply to most of the union's 19,000 members engaged on the major railways in Canada.

A major group excepted from the new notice served on the railways Tuesday would be about 4,500 employed on the CPR's western lines, who already are in separate negotiations with that railway for contract improvements that also include 25-per-cent wage boost.

Under the new notice, the proposed contract changes would be effective next June 1, to replace a contract expiring May 31.

The union asked that preliminary negotiations open April 10.

Canadian Vice-President, L. C. Malone of Winnipeg, chairman of the union's negotiating committee, said here he could not estimate the dollar value of the union's demands.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker starts this week charting the course for his Canadian adventure in development, his vision of which enraptured the country's voters in landslide proportions.

The 62-year-old Progressive Conservative chieftain was to arrive tonight by air from his home city of Prince Albert, Sask., where he voted in Monday's general election. His party won 209 of the Commons' 265 seats in the greatest mandate ever given a Canadian prime minister.

Liberals elected 48, and CCF eight.

The Conservative cabinet, all of its members personally re-elected, is to meet Thursday after returning from home constituencies.

Mr. Diefenbaker said today agricultural support prices will be considered at the cabinet session.

He made the announcement during a flight from Prince Al-

Some Reductions
Applicable Here

B.C. Telephone Company this morning applied in Ottawa for an increase on rates charged for monthly telephone bills and long-distance calls.

The tariff increases would yield about $6,460,000 additional revenue a year—about 15 per cent—but many subscribers in Greater Victoria will obtain net reductions in their bills if the application is approved.

The application was submitted to the Board of Transport Commissioners. Hearings will be held in Vancouver. Affected groups have 30 days to make representations to the board.

The company cited increased operating costs as the reason for its application.

The proposed increases would add between 50 and 75 cents a month to residential phone bills here and between 15 cents and $2.50 for business phones, depending on type of service.

However, much of the Victoria exchange area will escape the impact of the increases and in some cases phone bills may be reduced up to $1.50 a month, Eric Mallett, Vancouver Island commercial manager for the company, said.

At present, there is a mileage charge added to all phone bills in the Victoria exchange for connections beyond a two-mile radius of the telephone building at Johnson and Blanshard.

If that mileage charge is eliminated it seems that all of Oak Bay, Esquimalt, and some of the Saanich subscribers will benefit," he said.

"It all depends on how far they are from the telephone building. For instance, the maximum reductions will be about $1.50 a month on the total bill of an individual connection in the Beach Drive area near the Victoria Golf Club or Craigflower Bridge area in Esquimalt.

Along with the increase request, the company is asking for a change in the basis of computing charges to an "irregular" pattern so that it could equate rates within a growing area.

Two-party phones in the same areas will be reduced $1.15 a month if our application is approved. In those areas the mileage charges now amount to $1.75 for two-party connections and $2.25 for individual phones. Elimination of these would more than offset the increase in the basic charge."

However, all phones within the two-mile radius of the telephone building—on which the mileage charge does not apply now—will feel the full effect of the proposed increases if they are approved.

All of Vancouver Island will escape the impact of the average 10.1 per cent increase requested for long distance tolls.

Along with that increase, the company seeks permission to chop one-third off a surcharge on all Island-mainland calls because of the submarine cable service.

return on invested capital, the company claimed.

"Estimates for the year 1958 show that net income will be substantially below the amount required to provide for dividends on the then outstanding preference, preferred and ordinary shares."

The company's application noted that it will undertake a $50,000,000 expansion program this year and possibly just as large a one next year.

Reaction here was resigned. Most civic and community leaders said that the increase was part of a general rise in prices during the past few years.

LONDON—Queen Elizabeth Tuesday night drank a 40th birthday toast to the Royal Air Force at Fighter Command headquarters in suburban Stanmore.

She was attending the RAF anniversary dinner with the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and other members of the royal family.

The Queen said the RAF had "blazed the air trails across the Atlantic, through Africa and Asia to Singapore and beyond — the nucleus of that vast network of air highways that are now traversed daily by the airways of the world."

"The Battle of Britain in 1940 — the RAF's 'weeks of courage which have become an epic' — had taken its place with Trafalgar and Waterloo among the decisive battles of history."

LONDON — British philosopher Bertrand Russell, leader of a campaign against nuclear weapons, today ended a verbal duel with John Foster Dulles and Nikita Khrushchev by calling them "rival fanatics."

He was writing in the left-wing weekly review New Statesman which in recent months has published wordy letters from the philosopher, the U.S. secretary of state and the Russian leader.

LOS ANGELES — Actors Robert Mitchum, John Carroll and the father of singer Sammy Davis Jr. today were among defence witnesses subpoenaed for the trial of ex-mobster Mickey Cohen on charges of hitting a waiter.

Trial of the rotund little ex-mobster on charges of battery and disturbing the peace in a Sunset strip altercation last Jan. 29 opened in municipal court. Cohen denied the charge. He was wearing dark glasses to hide a black eye when he appeared in court.

NEW YORK—A teen-aged British heiress and her ship-ping clerk sweetheart were married Tuesday for the second time in two months. They explained that they just wanted to be sure everything is legal.

The first wedding of Dominic Elwes, son of a British portrait painter, and the former Tessa Kennedy, was performed Jan. 27 in Havana by a Cuban notary public, they said.

Elwes told reporters the ceremony had been in Spanish and they "couldn't understand a word of it."

NEW YORK—W. C. Handy was buried today to the muted strains of a trumpet and the ringing through Harlem of his "St. Louis Blues." He was eulogized as an "understudy to Gabriel."

Three thousand persons crowded into the Abyssinian Baptist Church for the funeral of the "Father of the Blues." A crowd estimated by police at almost 20,000 shivered outside the church on a raw, grey day.

Troops, Police Guard Visiting Khrushchev

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP)—A triumphantly smiling Nikita Khrushchev arrived today in Budapest and pledged that Russia's ties with Hungary "can never be destroyed."

It was Khrushchev's first appearance abroad since he took over the Soviet premiership. It also was the international diplomatic debut of his new first deputy, Frol Kozlov, traveling with him.

Thousands of troops and police formed a security cordon on the ground as Khrushchev left the plane first, smiling and waving jauntily to the cheering Communists who greeted him from behind a three-deep barrier of militia guards.

"The West has tried in vain to disturb peaceful relations between Hungary and the Soviet Union," Khrushchev told the crowd.

"However, the close ties between our two countries can never be destroyed. We do not have to fear the enemy if we continue our unity."

Then they drove off to Central Budapest, 10 miles away. Police closed the road for 20 minutes after the motorcade swept away from the airport. Police and troops stood at intervals of 20 yards along the highway and all crossroads were blocked off with other guards.

At the airport, Hungarian Communist leader Janos Kadar responded to Khrushchev's short speech.

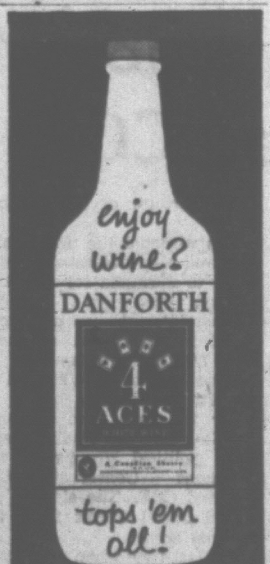

"Hungary will never forget that Soviet troops liberated our country," Kadar said.

Britain's Dollar Reserves Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's gold and dollar reserves rose by $231,000,000 during March and stood at $2,770,000,000 at the end of the month, the treasury announced today.

Last month's increase, which compared with an increase of $135,800,000 in February, makes the sixth consecutive month in which there has been a good gain.

The reserves — barometer of Britain's financial health — now stand at their highest since November, 1954, when they totalled $2,925,000,000.

WIRE BRIEFS

Tito to Visit Poland
WARSAW (Reuters) — Yugoslav President Tito will lead a Yugoslav party-government delegation to Poland in late spring, the Polish press agency Pao announced tonight. Wladyslaw Gomułka, the Polish Communist party leader, visited Yugoslavia last September.

Family of 9 Evicted
TORONTO (CP) — A family of nine was evicted from their home today by sheriff's officers. Mrs. James Stewart and her seven children were removed from the semi-detached brick house by five sheriff's officials. Neighbors said one child was left on the street wearing only pyjama tops.

Leftist Landslide

Pearson Under Fire By Hearst Tabloid

NEW YORK (BUP) — The New York Daily Mirror made a bitter editorial attack today on Canada's defeated candidate for prime minister, Lester B. Pearson.

The Hearst tabloid demanded that the Senate Internal Security Committee at last release the full text of its investigation of the suicide last year in Egypt of Canadian minister Herbert Norman "who had been accused of unwarranted relations with Communists."

The Mirror added "it is said the report contains data unfavorable to Pearson and has been held up at the request of the state department lest the U.S. be accused of influencing a Canadian election... when it is printed let nothing be deleted." The American people have a right to know what influences have been at work separating these nations that have lived in peaceful co-operation for more than a century.

Commenting on Pearson's defeat, the Mirror said — "The Canadian election not only was a defeat for Lester Pearson, who for years has been a baiter of the U.S., but it was a posi-

Duncan Youth, Shot in Eye, Recovering

Sixteen-year-old Ronald Seymour, of the Quamichan Indian Reserve near Duncan, who was shot accidentally Monday night, was reported in "good" condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

He was seriously injured about the eye and head when a rifle discharged while being examined by himself and a group of friends during an outing on Salt Spring Island.

His friends took him by canoe to Cherry Point. From there he was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan before being brought to Victoria.

Magistrate Named

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner appointed Lorne H. Jackson, 62, a former Assize Court prosecutor, to the permanent post of deputy police magistrate. The post has been filled for almost a year by temporary appointments.

servative and now-defunct Progressive groups.

Also, for the first time since 1917-21, there will be no independents.

ARGUE AS CCF LEADER?
All that stands in the way of the two-party federal system that Canada left in 1921 are eight CCF members, remnants of the 25-member group that sat in the last Parliament.

They are without a House leader at the moment, 69-year-old M. J. Coldwell having been personally defeated in Saskatchewan's Rosetown-Biggar, along with another national party leader, Social Credit's 58-year-old Solon Low in Peace River, Alta.

Hazen Argue, Assiniboia, party whip last session, is considered a likely caucus choice for CCF House leader.

With the Liberals not holding a single seat in the three Prairie provinces, and the CCF's representation in that region confined to Assiniboia, Mr. Argue finds himself in the unique predicament of being the lone opposition voice for Canada's bread-basket.

The new parliament will be unusual in another respect. While the Conservatives have a giant majority in the Commons, the Liberals hold sway similarly in the Senate with 77 members compared with 17 Conservatives, two Independents and one Independent Liberal. There are only five Senate vacancies.

This could give rise to some delicate situations, especially on any controversial legislation. During the last short session, when the Conservatives ruled with a minority Commons representation, the Liberal senators co-operated fully in facilitating the passage of legislation — mostly non-controversial.

CHANCE FOR CANCER PATIENTS

Coin Rules on Drug Use

CHICAGO (AP) — The flip of a coin is deciding some cancer patients' chances for longer life.

The coin decides whether they will or won't be given anti-cancer drugs at the time of cancer surgery. The drugs are aimed at killing escaping cancer cells which could start new cancers elsewhere in the body later.

Some people can be given the drugs, others not.

Flipping a coin is one of the best ways of statistically choosing a random sample.

Dr. Warren H. Cole, surgeon-in-chief of the University of Illinois—Research and Educational Hospital, describes the cancer experiments to science writers making an American Cancer Society tour of leading research centres.

Surgeons have been concerned that they cannot get all of a cancer or that malignant cells can be spread by the operation. Stray cancer cells have been found in veins leading from wounds. If there are too many, the body's natural defences may be overwhelmed.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY...

The lovely child born Thursday is endowed with that elusive quality which makes him or her dear to all within immediate orbit. But take care to point out early in life that one has to earn a living if one is to truly enjoy it, for there is the danger that your progeny's ambition may be smothered by the constant attention of others. There is a great humanitarian here so give liberal education.

TV with Leo

'Old Tunes and No Talent' Makes Debut on Channel 11 at 7

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

Oh, I dine with Tories
And wine with Tories,
A weary Grit beret,
Who'd have no truck with the Tories
But there's simply nobody left.

A THRILLING SHOW—Speaking in showbusiness terms, the CBC's maiden effort to telecast a national election on a Canada-wide scale lost much of its punch because the big climax—Lester Pearson conceding defeat of his Liberal Party at the hands of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Progressive Conservatives—came so early in the evening that everything after that could be described as mere anti-climactic.

Nonetheless, it was a thrilling show and a distinct feather in the CBC's cap. Even more significant, it was Canadian television coming of age.

In previous elections, before the CBC utilized U.S. services to bind the country together for the evening as a whole, it was radio which carried the day, setting there, so to speak, fastest with the most.

BUT THIS TIME TV viewers were transported from eastern Canada to western Canada with magic carpet ease, from Halifax to Toronto, from Vancouver to Winnipeg, along the way picking up voting progress in each area, being privileged to listen to speeches by victorious and defeated candidates, before having the over-all Canadian election picture tied up before their eyes in a neat, precise bundle at CBC headquarters in Toronto. Even Johnny Come-Lately viewers could immediately pick up the sensational and historic swing to Progressive Conservatism.

It was good, too, the way Vancouver's CBUT and Victoria's CHEK-TV would break away from the network at intervals long enough to bring viewers up to date on how their candidates were doing and being given a run-down of the provincial scene before rejoining the trans-Canada web.

All of which only points up how nice it will be when later this year British Columbia is joined to eastern Canada by the new all-Canadian microwave network and we, as a nation, can rely on our own facilities rather than having to rely on those of another country.
